Pomona moves to limit bingo play to once a week

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

The Pomona City Council Monday night held first reading on an amended bingo ordinance which bans an organization from holding games more than once a week.

Since the council will not meet next Monday because of the annual League of California Cities conference in San Francisco, and since the first meeting in October is a study session, the second reading of the ordinance will not be held until Oct. 10.

The ordinance would then go into effect Nov. 9.

The proposed ordinance brought protests from Victor Barbish of the Church of All Faiths, 3240 N. Garey Ave.

Barbish suggested that an organization be allowed to hold bingo games three times a week. He said that bingo players will not come to Pomona if bingo is limited.

Barbish said that he has a list of a thousand bingo players from the Los Angeles area who like valley bingo. Barbish was preceded by attorney Joe Dolan who extolled Barbish's "spreading the Holy Word" and ministering to thousands."

He said that Barbish plans to build a temple to which thousands may come, and also plans to build a hospital next to Casa Colina.

He called attention to Barbish's buying acreage adjacent to the Pomona humane society property and giving it to the humane society.

Dolan said Barbish had donated more than $32,000 to the humane society.

Dolan asked the council to table the ordinance for 30 days to give Barbish an opportunity to gain support.

Barbish said bingo could be an evil, and could be a benefit.

"Liquor should be kept out of bingo," he said. This supported an earlier request by Mrs. Ethel Henning, Women's Christian Temperance Union (WCTU), president. She asked that the ordinance specify that no alcoholic beverages be served where bingo is played.

City Atty. Patrick Sampson had deleted such a restriction from the proposed ordinance after City Councilman G. Stanton Selby had noted at the Sept. 12 meeting that organizations such as the Moose, Eagles and others do serve liquor.

Barbish told the council he had made $100,000 in improvements in his church and has given away $7,000 worth of free Bibles and sold thousands of others.

He said he is giving $1,000 a month to the Pomona Boys Club and will give up to $2,000 a month.

"These other organizations need your help," he said.

"Sampson knows what he is doing. Use this money to upgrade Pomona," Barbish said.

He told the council he is using his home as a crisis control center. He said he wanted to use the Fox Theater for that purpose, but the city wants it. He suggested underwriting the lease of the theater for the city.

The Rev. Hiram Sanders of the Pomona Nazarene Church said that church bingo is being used as a disguise.

"Problems must be solved openly," he said.

"Maybe we ought to let bingo take over financing our city," commented E. J. Gaulding.

J. Romo said the sole purpose of the original bingo ordinance was to keep "little old ladies off the street.

"The whole thing is getting out of hand," he said. "If we have to get the Fox Theater with this kind of money, let's forget about it."

Councilwoman George Grove said she has no qualms about the ordinance, and moved to approve it as written.

Councilman Benjamin Ochoa, who said that he voted against the bingo issue previously, called the proposed amended ordinance "the first step to opening the door to more gambling."

"I can't support a bingo ordinance," he said. "It's like the death penalty. I support the death penalty, but I can't support this."

Mayor Charles Bader said it would be wrong to encourage a bingo industry in Pomona.

The ordinance which passed, 3-1 with Ochoa voting no, says that only one licensed organization may use the same property for bingo, limits the playing of bingo from 7 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. and calls for the presence of a bingo manager.

It also reduces the regulatory license fee from $150 to $50, but adds a business license of 10 percent of the gross receipts.

Panel rejects Carter tax proposal on gas-gulpers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee, after approving President Carter's proposed tax credit for home insulation, today rejected his tax on gas-thirsty automobiles.

The surprise vote against the tax was 11 to 5. Several committee members said they voted against the Carter tax because the Senate already has voted to ban the manufacture of fuel-inefficient cars beginning in 1980.

Today's vote was even worse for Carter than it appeared on its face. There are growing indications that the committee will vote to kill the other two major taxes that make up the President's energy tax program.

Laurence Woodworth, Carter's chief tax adviser, called the House-passed tax on the gas-thirsty cars an essential part of any energy program. Without the tax, he added, it would appear Congress was doing nothing about energy.

But Sen. Spark Matsunaga, D-Hawaii, said the message of the Carter tax is, "If you are rich and can pay for it, you don't have to conserve."

Despite the committee's vote, the gas-guzzler tax is not dead. The full Senate will consider it next month, as well as a House-Senate conference committee.

As passed by the House, the bill would impose a tax of up to $553 on any 1979 model car that gets less than 13 miles per gallon. In 1985, the maximum tax would climb to $3,856.

Whatever the fate of the tax, it will have no effect on an existing law which penalizes manufacturers if their fleet of cars fall below a minimum efficiency standard. For 1978 models that minimum is 18 mpg; in 1985 it rises to 27.5 mpg.

On a 9-7 vote the committee rejected a House provision that would have repealed the existing income tax deduction for state and local gasoline taxes. The repeal, supported by the Carter administration, would have cost consumers an additional $1.4 billion a year by 1985.

Votes on two other key proposals are likely later this week, with results also expected to be unfavorable for Carter's energy plan.

In a cliffhanger vote, the panel accepted another Carter proposal Monday, agreeing to allow a tax credit of up to $400 for persons who insulate and otherwise weatherize their homes. A credit of up to $2,200 would be available to persons who install a home heating system.

Welfare fraud probe ordered by supervisors

By BOB NAGEY
PB Staff Writer

A sweeping probe of alleged welfare fraud amongst public employees was ordered today by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn is asking for the names of all persons who are receiving welfare benefits while working on other jobs. He said that while some of the claims may be legitimate he was after those who are not entitled to the benefits.

The investigation was triggered by reports in Washington, D.C. that Los Angeles was one of 20 cities which may have expensive welfare frauds.

Joseph A. Califano, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, has ordered a similar investigation for Washington and 19 other cities, including Los Angeles, to see if federal employees were improperly receiving welfare benefits.

Hahn told the supervisors today that "Los Angeles County probably has the best welfare program in the nation. However, as in all organizations and societies there are those who want to cheat and commit fraud.

His probe calls not only for those who are on federal state, county and school payrolls but also those who receive welfare benefits while working for private industry. He asked Keith Comrie, director of the Department of Social Services, to report to the board how many employed persons are receiving welfare.

The supervisor said that a very preliminary report in January indicated that there were 1,744 persons on the welfare roles at that time who also had outside jobs. He said there were indications that 198 of those involve fraud.

"I am not against those who earn so little that they need welfare benefits to exist," he explained. "However, I want some recommendations on how we can reduce cheating and fraud."

Chief Administrative Officer Harry L. Hufford told the board that computer matchups could furnish the names of those who are getting welfare while holding down jobs.

The board called for a report within three weeks.

In touch with Arab leaders?

Dayan believes formula will be found to restore peace parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hinting that he is in direct touch with Arab leaders, Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan said today he thinks "ultimately an agreed formula will be found" to reconvene the Geneva peace conference by the end of the year.

Dayan told a news conference he represents the first Israeli government that does not simply say, "no, no," to Arab proposals but one that is even willing to surrender settlements on the West Bank of the Jordan River in a final peace treaty.

However, Dayan said Israel flatly refuses to negotiate with the Palestine Liberation Organization, or to the establishment of a Palestinian state.

Dayan virtually confirmed reports that he met recently with King Hussein of Jordan, but he said he could not say one way or the other because he is "concerned with other people too and they are not too eager" to have any such meetings publicized.

But based also on indirect contacts, and his talks Monday with President Carter and Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, he said, "I believe all the parties, the Arab countries, Israel, the United States — but not the POL — want the Geneva peace conference to take place."

Specifically, Dayan said, "I think we should take at face value the Egyptian statement they do want to make peace with us." He said the same holds true for Jordan.

Dayan described the proposals he brought to Carter and Vance as "a draft for a peace treaty" that he said could be negotiated only with the Arab countries individually and not with the PLO.

He reiterated Israel's willingness to have Palestinans included in a Jordanian delegation, and, apparently in a compromising mood, said Israel would not "go and inquire whether they are sympathetic to the PLO."

While the proposals, which include Israeli willingness to relinquish large areas of the Sinai and the Golan Heights, are not new in a specific sense, Dayan said they represent "a new concept."

Israel, he said, no longer simply objects to Arab demands but now says "everything is negotiable."

He said, "We are offering the Palestinians on the West Bank to sit down and tell us what they want and how they want to live with us."

In this regard, he said, some of the 80 or so Israeli settlements in Sinai, the Golan Heights or on the West Bank, could be abandoned if they turn out to be on the Arab side of final borders.

Tears flow as giraffe dies in keepers' arms

MARWELL HALL, England (AP) — Victor, the spreadeagled giraffe died today — apparently of shock during an attempt to winch him to his feet in a canvas sling made by the Royal Navy.

The giraffe, which had been unable to stand since he did the splits last Thursday, could not survive the attempt to lift him with a block and tackle hung from steel scaffolding.

The plight of 15-year-old Victor was front-page news in this animal-loving nation and around the world. Telegrams and letters poured in to the Marwell Park Zoo with suggestions on how to get him to his feet.

He apparently fell while trying to mate with one of the zoo's three female giraffes.

Victor "was a bit stressed by all the activity around him last night," said his keeper, 21-year-old Ruth Giles. "But he appeared to have settled down and had something to eat this morning."

A veterinarian who examined the giraffe said he died from "shock." An autopsy was planned.

The 18-foot-tall East African giraffe had been raised in the air, clad in a harness specially made by Royal Navy sailmakers.

The one-ton animal hung swaying from the steel scaffolding as workmen lowered him near the ground in a see-saw operation designed to slowly restore circulation to his rickety legs.

He seemed to have trouble with his breathing as they lowered him, and he suddenly died.

"I think it is the shock of what has happened progressively, and in this last trauma he didn't have the will to stand it," said John Knowles, owner of the Marwell Park Zoo about 70 miles southwest of London.

"It is always a problem with giraffes. They suppress their shock but their worry and concern is going on inside them. They reach the point where they just give up."

Victor had appeared distressed and continually turned his head to watch workers who set up the lifting gear last night.

Had he survived, said Knowles, he would have been "the first giraffe as far as I know, to have done the splits and live." But the zoo owner had rated the giraffe's chances at only 50-50.

Many of the 200 animal lovers gathered around Victor's enclosure burst into tears when the giraffe died.

He was lowered from the winch onto the ground, his legs tucked beneath him, and the veterinarian pronounced him dead.

His keepers cradled Victor's head as he breathed his last gasp.

Shooting suspect surrenders to Upland police chief; victim in fair condition

By TONY AULT
PB Staff Writer

A 43-year-old Cucamonga man suspected of shooting another man during an altercation, finally surrendered himself to Upland Police Chief Coy Estes after barricading himself in an Upland home for nearly two hours Monday night.

Upland police this morning said that the suspect, Santana Lopez Acuna of 8205 Arrow Highway, Cucamonga, was booked in the West End jail for investigation of attempted murder and assault with a deadly weapon.

Police said Acuna was arrested in connection with the shooting of Jerry Lira, 34, 1205 Myrtle Drive, Upland, about 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Lira, who suffered at least four gunshot wounds to the stomach and chest, was listed in fair condition this morning after undergoing surgery at San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland.

Police Chief Estes said that shortly after the shooting incident, officers learned that the suspect had fled to a home in the 100 block of north 12th Avenue.

Officers knocked on the door of the home but were refused entrance by the occupants, which included five children and four adults.

The officers reported seeing the suspect in the hallway of the home holding what was believed to be a rifle.

The officers immediately backed off the porch and called for assistance from other officers.

Police surrounded the home and ordered the suspect and the other occupants to come outside unarmed.

No reply from inside the home was heard and officers sought to contact the suspect or the occupants by telephone.

Estes said that attempts by the suspect's brother to bring him outside failed and he finally talked to Acuna and ordered him to come out.

The chief said that after talking about 10 minutes he convinced Acuna to come out of the home unarmed and he would not be harmed by the officers.

Estes said Acuna came out and was immediately taken into custody.

Officers reported that earlier in the evening the suspect and Lira became engaged in a verbal argument outside of Lira's home. During the argument, the suspect reportedly took a .22-caliber rifle out of his car and shot at the victim two or three times in front of several witnesses, said investigators.

Officers said the suspect then fired one shot at the witnesses and then fired several more shots at the victim on the ground before fleeing.

None of the witnesses were injured.

Police would not comment on what the two men were arguing about prior to the shooting.

Acuna, at the time of the shooting, was out of jail on a $50,000 bond in connection with another felony charge, Estes said.

First group of refugees to arrive in U.S. today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The first group of refugees from Southeast Asia is arriving in the United States under a new Carter administration program.

The 94 adults and six children from Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia are the sea and survived a hand-to-mouth existence aboard their boats while awaiting sponsorship abroad, Ilchert said.

The remaining 8,000 refugees will come from the Thai camps, he said.

The refugees will meet sponsors arranged by several service organizations, including the U.S. Catholic Conference, the International Rescue Committee and the Church World Service.

For those who have come here, there is a modicum of comfort and security, but their legal status is somewhat unstable, Ilchert said.

Technically, the refugees are being "paroled" into the country on an indefinite basis, which means they aren't eligible for citizenship unless they apply for a change of status.

It is expected that it will take several months before all 15,000 refugees reach this country.

Applicants are currently being screened in consular offices in several major Southeast Asian cities, including Bangkok, Singapore, Taipei and Seoul, Ilchert said.

Malpractice bill blocked in Assembly

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill increasing emergency room doctors' protection from malpractice suits has been blocked in the lawyer-dominated Assembly.

The bill would have given virtual immunity from lawsuits to surgeons and other specialists who are called in as consultants in emergency room cases. It would have made it harder to win damages from other emergency room doctors.

first of 15,000 Indochinese refugees being allowed into the country under special Justice Department authorization.

The refugees are scheduled to arrive today at San Francisco International Airport.

From there, most will catch flights to new homes with voluntary sponsors in cities across the country, Ilchert said. A small group is to remain in the San Francisco Bay area.

U.S. Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell authorized the new program to admit the refugees, effective Aug. 11, said David Illchert, district director of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

The move followed a U.S. State Department report this summer that said some 80,000 people were crowded into refugee camps in Thailand, he said.

"For humanitarian reasons," the refugees are being allowed to come to the U.S., Ilchert said.

Nude beach voting to be held today

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Voters are deciding whether to call for a cover-up on the nation's first city-sanctioned nude beach.

More than 130,000 of San Diego's 369,000 registered voters were expected to vote today on the question that has divided religious leaders and stirred political debate. A "yes" vote means a vote to abolish nude bathing at Black's Beach.

The beach covers an isolated 900-foot reserve of sand and surf below the cliff bordering the University of California at San Diego. The rule at Black's Beach since 1974 has been that bathing suits are optional.

The Rev. Richard Matson of the La Jolla Lutheran Church near Black's Beach called publicly for rejection of the ban, terming invalid the Old Testament story that Adam ate forbidden fruit and covered himself in shame.

"What people forget is that we also have the New Testament, especially in the Book of Hebrews, where it says that in Adam all men died and that they live in Christ," said the Rev. Mr. Price.

Among clergymen speaking out against the nude beach were the Most Rev. Leo T. Maher, bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese, and the Rev. Robert M. Wolterstorff, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of San Diego.

The congregation of the College Avenue Baptist Church received a letter from the pastor, the Rev. Robert Luther, asking it to approve the ban "to stem the tide of immorality."

Both San Diego newspapers called for return to mandatory swimsuits.

Although opponents of nude bathing said crime and promiscuity have taken place at the beach, police said it has been the scene of fewer arrests than other beaches.

The beach has grown increasingly popular despite a hazardous foot trail to reach it. An estimated 4,000 people crowd in, the majority without wearing anything, on an average summer day. Perhaps 15,000 or more bask there on the balmiest holiday weekends.

Polls were open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. and returns were not expected to be known until after midnight.

Approval of the ballot proposition prohibiting public nudity on Black's Beach would require another vote of the Council to amend the 1974 ordinance.

L.A. teachers get pay hike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles City school teachers have started school on a bright note.

Teachers won a 6 per cent pay hike Monday night, after the first day of classes.

The pay boost pact came following a late night bargaining session between the Los Angeles City School District and the United Teachers of Los Angeles.

In addition to the salary boost, teachers got higher benefits.

In all, the package will cost the district about $48 million.

It was the first time the city school district bargained under the new collective bargaining provisions for teachers.

Cal Poly's troubles outlined

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

Diminished public support, increased governmental restrictions and inadequate financial backing affect every aspect of Cal Poly Pomona and all persons associated with it.

This was the keynote of the president's address as he opened its three-day fall conference and launched "Project 88."

Dr. Hugh O. La Bounty Jr., acting president, spoke Monday morning before an overflow crowd which jammed the university theater's foyer.

"We perform now under new restrictions, many of them legislated by the government, and we find ourselves responding to a public perhaps more critical of our performance than it has every been before," said La Bounty.

"We in higher education no longer enjoy that support we once had from the public. A recent national survey shows that public confidence in the institutions of higher education reflects the same disaffection that the public has expressed toward corporations, government and churches.

"The survey placed colleges and universities so near the bottom of the list that the only category lower was politicians."

La Bounty said governmental restrictions on what a college can do and how it must do it have become a heavy burden.

"The approximate $2 billion that colleges and universities spend each year to comply with government regulations equals the estimated value of annual gifts to all institutions of higher education," continued the president.

Addressing the problem of inflation, La Bounty said the California State University and College faculty received an average of 5 per cent pay "raise" at the same time that President Carter announced that the inflation figure this year is 7 per cent.

"In short, costs are at an all-time high and salaries in our field are inadequately adjusted to rising costs," continued La Bounty. "This financial situation is not likely to attract, or even retain, the best talent available."

La Bounty believes the pendulum was swinging from a period of innovations in education back to a stress on the basics.

"It is not that innovation should be shunned, but that it should be courted without sacrificing those fundamental accomplishments, such as communicating effectively, without which any other learning may be sterile."

La Bounty announced that Cal Poly Pomona anticipates an enrollment of 14,500 when classes begin Thursday. This is an increase of 1,100, or about 8 per cent over last year.

"Last year, only the two Cal Poly campuses showed potential for significant growth in the CSUC system," he added.

La Bounty said he was pleased with the number of exchange faculty on the campus and other advances, but unhappy that Governor Brown had vetoed the $2 million to purchase the 100 acres to the north and west of the university to serve as a buffer for the school's agricultural program.

"Given the fact that we have almost unanimous support for the purchase of the land from the chancellor's staff, the board of trustees, the state Assembly and Senate, we are examining the advisability of selling the Voorhis campus (near San Dimas) to purchase the land," he announced.

The matter will be considered by the trustees later this month.

"Project 88" is an all-campus involvement to examine and evaluate the university in all of its present aspects; to define the goals for the next decade; and to coordinate the planning efforts to achieve these goals.

The interim report of the university's first look at itself was distributed Monday.

According to Dr. Katherine Seibert, the president's associate for planning, the working paper is presented as the basis of discussion, for revision and evaluation.

The fall conference will continue through Wednesday and classes start on Thursday.

State briefs

Busnap trial ruling

OAKLAND (AP) — The defense has scored a victory in a pretrial hearing for three young men accused of kidnaping 26 children and their school bus driver.

Superior Court Judge Leo Deegan ruled Monday that no testimony will be allowed regarding the mental impact of the kidnaping on the 27 victims.

Deegan, a Riverside jurist called out of retirement to preside over the Alameda County trial, made the ruling after he was informed the parents of four of the children will refuse to allow defense psychiatrists to examine the victims.

A child psychiatrist had already examined the children, seeking evidence that the kidnaping harmed the children.

"I didn't come here to try four contempt of court cases," declared Deegan, who said neither the prosecution nor defense would be allowed to offer psychiatric testimony.

Frederick Woods, James Schoenfeld and Richard Schoenfeld pleaded guilty last July 25 to kidnaping for ransom in the July 15, 1976, abductions in Chowchilla.

Sohio officials not ready

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Standard Oil Co. of Ohio says it is not ready to jump at a solution offered by state Air Resources Board Chairman Tom Quinn to a problem blocking its proposed tanker terminal at Long Beach Harbor.

Quinn earlier said his plan, which involved a "pollution tradeoff," was ready to be worked out with Sohio officials. But Monday company officials said Quinn's optimism was premature.

Sohio executives were to meet with Southern California Edison officials today to discuss the plan. But one top Sohio executive said more exploration is needed before money is poured into the plan. Quinn's estimated cost is $90 million.

"We are not going to write any blank check," warned Frank E. Mosier, a Sohio senior vice president, speaking by telephone from Cleveland. "I'm not optimistic that we are anywhere near a solution."

Clear water costs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's going to cost the city between $80 million and $120 million to clear up its cloudy water, a Department of Water and Power official says.

To meet federal and state requirements for safe drinking water, Los Angeles must build a filtration plant for water from the Owens Valley, Paul H. Lane said Monday.

The DWP's chief engineer of water works told the City Council's Water and Power Committee that the problem was turbidity — cloudiness caused by dirt particles which did not settle.

Although turbidity was once considered only an aesthetic standard, Lane said, it is viewed as a potential health hazard under the 1974 Safe Water Drinking Act because it can mask bacteria.

However, Lane emphasized that there has never been a health problem with Owens Valley water, which is chlorinated.

Energy inventions

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The federal government, looking for new solutions to energy problems, is encouraging individuals and small companies to come up with energy-saving inventions.

The Energy Research and Development Association wants inventors to submit plans for such devices to the National Bureau of Standards, according to NBS technical information officer, Avery T. Horton.

A two-step evaluation process is free, Horton, said, and if the invention has merit, the inventor can receive ERDA assistance in the form of a loan, grant or marketing feasibility study.

One such individual to receive ERDA funds was Dr. G.R. Fitterer of Oakmont, Pa.

Fitterer was given $99,600 to test and develop a method of determining the dissolved oxygen content of molten steel that could mean higher quality steel alloys and the use of less aluminum.

Paying for abortions

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislative skirmishing is expected to start in January over Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s decision to take the place of the federal government in paying for poor women's abortions.

A Republican, Assemblyman Eugene Chappie of Roseville, has introduced a bill that would prevent the state from paying for elective abortions.

And a Brown aide said Monday that if the governor is forced to ask the legislature for abortion funding, he will do it in an overall bill to pay the recently disclosed deficit in Medi-Cal.

The Carter administration cut off federal funding for all abortions last month, except those needed to save the mother's life.

Brown said the access to abortion services shouldn't depend on a woman's income. He ordered payment under MediCal. But he has said he will reevaluate his decision after Congress decides this fall on new restrictions.

Chappie's AB 2063 would ban Medi-Cal payments for all abortions except those to save the mother's life or in case of rape or incest.

Chappie says he is anti-abortion. But he explains that the issue is Brown's decision to pick up the cost of a federal program without asking the legislature.

Settlement reached with Onassis' daughter

$20 million for Jackie

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Jacqueline Onassis has reached a $20 million settlement with her stepdaughter, Christina Onassis, in return for relinquishing any further claim to her husband's estate, sources close to the Onassis family said today.

The settlement, about twice what Mrs. Onassis could have expected under terms of the late Aristotle Onassis's will, severs any connection she may have had with Onassis-owned enterprises and brings to an end her $250,000 dollars a year allowance, the sources said.

Neither Mrs. Onassis, 47, nor her stepdaughter could be reached for comment.

The New York Times reported today that Christina agreed to the settlement because she was eager to cut all ties with her stepmother. She also was advised that Mrs. Onassis would not consider anything less than $20 million, the Times said in a story from Athens.

Sources told The Associated Press that Mrs. Onassis began seeking the settlement shortly after her husband's death in Paris at age 69 in March 1975, but Christina "simply ignored her."

"Christina relented (and agreed) to give Jackie the generous amount only if she would agree to sever all her ties with the Onassis estate," they added.

It remained unclear whether the $20 million figure was in addition to $8 million Mrs. Onassis reportedly received from Christina a year ago to relinquish her shares in the family-owned yacht, Christina, and Scorpios Island in the Ionian Sea, where Onassis is buried.

Although initial reports after Onassis' death were that he had left his widow some $200 million, it was revealed when the will was made public in June 1975 that he had left her only $100,000 a year from tax-free bonds and $100,000 a year from other income for herself and $50,000 for her children. The bequest was to have been paid through a foundation in Lichtenstein, and the bulk of the shipping tycoon's estate was to go to his daughter, now 26, and to a foundation in memory of his late son, Alexander, killed in a plane crash.

Onassis' hand-written will, dated Jan. 3, 1974, indicated that Mrs. Onassis had signed a document in New York in which she relinquished all rights to her late husband's estate.

However, The Times quotes friends of Christina Onassis as saying that soon after her father's death, Mrs. Onassis and her brother-in-law, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, began pressing the heiress to increase the bequest to Mrs. Onassis.

Miss Onassis' share of her father's estate is estimated at $250 million.

Friends of Christina Onassis said she opposed her father's marriage in 1968 to the widow of President John F. Kennedy and was never able to become close to her. The relationship was said to have become even more strained after Onassis' death, although his daughter made a statement to the contrary and denied reports that her father had planned to divorce his wife.

Carter backs 'numerical targets' in admitting minorities to schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration is supporting "numerical targets" to help more blacks and other minorities gain admission to the nation's professional schools.

But administration officials are dodging tough questions about when a target becomes a racial quota, and they're advising the Supreme Court to avoid such questions, too.

In a brief submitted to the court Monday, Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell and Solicitor General Wade McCree laid out the government position on what may be the most important civil rights case in more than 20 years.

The Supreme Court will hear arguments Oct. 12 in the case involving Allan Bakke, a 37-year-old white applicant who was denied admission to the University of California Medical School at Davis. The justices are reviewing a California court decision that said it was unconstitutional for the university to grant special treatment to minority applicants on the basis of race.

The high court decision, expected later this year or early next year, could influence profoundly the opportunities for blacks, Hispanics and women in employment as well as education.

Bell said the principal points of the brief were cleared with President Carter in advance. But he said neither he nor the President "wrote one word" of the 74-page paper.

The administration strongly endorsed affirmative action programs to guarantee jobs and schooling for racial minorities victimized by past discrimination. The government also contended that universities should be encouraged to follow such programs whether or not they themselves were guilty of past discrimination.

In devising programs to recruit minorities, "reasonably selected numerical targets for minority admissions can be useful as a gauge of the program's effectiveness," the government stated.

This could mean, for example, that a university would strive to admit non-white applicants for 20 per cent of each entering class. Or it could mean that an employer would try to hire blacks for half of all starting-level jobs until the racial makeup of his employes matched the racial composition of the community's labor force.

Or it could mean, as it did at the California medical school, that 16 places in each entering class of 100 were reserved for minority applicants.

Bakke and his supporters, ranging from usually liberal Jewish organizations to the staunchly conservative Young Americans for Freedom, argued that 16 was an unconstitutional racial quota.

This was one of the crucial questions the administration ducked.

In the brief, Bell and McCree argued that the court records on the California case were so confusing and incomplete that they could not judge whether the admissions program amounted to a racial quota.

They took the position, as Carter did in his campaign, that rigid racial quotas are unconstitutional. But they said the court should wait for another case to decide what constitutes an improper quota.

"The position of the United States is that we favor affirmative action and you can consider race in setting the test," Bell told a news conference.

"We see that as the issue. We do not see that this case involves, except in a secondary way, quotas. There is a line between goals and quotas and if you cross the line, we would not be in favor of quotas."

On the specific question of Bakke's application, the brief recommends that the Supreme Court not make a decision on whether the Californian should be admitted to medical school at Davis.

The brief urged the Supreme Court to return the case to Californuia courts for more fact finding.

The brief drew general approval from one key black member of Congress.

"The final brief is consonant with what we sought in our pleadings with the Justice Department," said Rep. Parren Mitchell, D-Md., chairman of the Congressional Black Caucus. He praised "the general direction" of the department's arguments.

Victor Goode of the National Conference of Black Lawyers called the brief acceptable and said "it's much better than we first had been led to believe."

Polanski to be given tests at CIM

Film director Roman Polanski, who pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawful sexual intercourse with a minor, will probably arrive at California Institution for Men (CIM) in Chino shortly after Dec. 19.

He will undergo up to three months of psychiatric tests at CIM.

According to a CIM spokesman, the maximum time under law which Polanski can be kept at CIM for evaluation is 90 days. He said that a minimum of 60 days is required for the necessary testing, evaluations by counselors and psychiatrists and recommendations to the court.

Superior Court Judge Laurence J. Rittenband, who received a highly sympathetic probation report on Polanski, 44, on Monday gave the director three months to complete a movie in Tahiti.

Polanski is due to turn himself in to the court on Dec. 19.

The CIM spokesman said the Chino prison has no authority over the noted director until he is delivered to Chino by Los Angeles County authorities. Once at CIM, he will undergo routine procedures for all inmates referred for psychiatric tests.

Once these tests are completed, the associate warden will make a recommendation to the court. The court then will sentence Polanski.

Still seeking identity of dead man

Pomona police today were still attempting to learn the identity of the man found beaten to death in Palomares Park early Saturday morning.

The victim, white and between 40 and 50 years old, had been killed by blows from a blunt object on his face and head. He wore rented, uniform-style trousers.

Police Capt. Vernon Weigand said the victim's fingerprints will be submitted to federal authorities on the chance they can identify them.

Man struck by car, hurt

A 41-year-old San Jacinto man was injured Monday night when he was struck by a car while walking to his semi-tractor-trailer rig parked at Sixth Street and Sultana Avenue in Ontario, police reported.

The victim, Nicholas Alfred Smit, was listed in fair condition this morning at Ontario Community Hospital.

Ontario police said that Smit was walking to the cab of his truck when a car, westbound on Sixth Street and driven by Robert Wayne Riddle, 25, 9315 Mills Ave., Montclair, struck him and knocked him to the pavement.

Riddle told officers he could not see the pedestrian because of the setting sun's glare through his windshield.

Burglars carry off strongbox

Burglars carried away a 75-pound stongbox after breaking into Bentley's Food Market at 235 Yale Ave. during the weekend, Claremont police reported.

The box contained a small amount of rolled coins. The market cash register also was looted.

The thieves got into the store through a window, officers said.

Forces way into home, hits woman

A man wearing cowboy boots and a white T-shirt forced his way into an apartment Monday night and knocked down a 21-year-old Ontario woman and ransacked her apartment, Ontario police reported.

The woman told officers she was home alone sitting on the sofa and playing her guitar when a man entered through the unlocked door and suddenly attacked her, shouting over and over "I hate you. I hate you."

The woman said she was knocked down and the man then ransacked her apartment but took nothing before he fled from the area on east J Street.

The man was described as being a Latin, 20 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches tall, of medium to large build.

He had no facial hair.

Rifleman robs inn in Claremont

A man armed with a high-power rifle robbed the Rodeway Inn at 840 S. Indian Hill Blvd., Claremont, early today.

Officer Rick Mellem said the man entered shortly after 2 a.m., hiding the rifle behind him, and then threatened the 25-year-old clerk with it when he reached the counter. The robber emptied the cash drawer and ordered the victim into a backroom where he was forced to lie on the floor while the rifleman fled.

The robber was described as white, in his 30s, 5 feet 8 weighing 145 pounds. He had brown hair in an afro style and wore a brown jacket with a fur collar.

Chino firm to build bridge over Colorado River

A Chino firm has been awarded a $2 million contract to construct a new bridge across the Colorado River from Needles to Arizona.

San Bernardino County supervisors selected Novo-Rados Constructors of Chino, which submitted the lowest of two bids for the project.

The project has been planned for nearly four years. Negotiations involved the county and Arizona and California transportation departments.

The bridge will link Needles with Arizona highways and settlements directly across the river and save many motorists from having to drive 20 miles out of their way to use the Interstate 40 crossing 10 miles to the south.

The two-lane structure is scheduled for completion by next summer.

Man injured in Pomona auto crash

A 69-year-old Los Angeles man was injured early Monday afternoon in a two-car crash at Towne and McKinley avenues in Pomona.

The victim, Joe Pocino, was reported in fair condition today at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. Pocino was a passenger in a car driven by Frances M. Pocino, 62, when it was involved in the collision. Mrs. Pocino was treated at the hospital. The other driver involved, Steven W. Kelly, 20, of Pomona, was unhurt.

Two motorists were injured in the broadside collision of two cars Monday morning at White Avenue and Fremont Street in Pomona.

Danny D. Royse, 16, of Pomona, one driver, was treated at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. The other motorist, Esther L. Sanchez, 27, also of Pomona, said she would see her physician later.

Also Monday morning, Joy M. Witham, 33, of Grand Terrace near Colton, was injured slightly when her car ran off the end of Temple Avenue at Diamond Bar Boulevard and into a culvert. The woman, who was unfamiliar with the area, declined immediate treatment for a cut chin and back pain.

Man found shot dead

The body of an unidentified man, shot execution-style, was found Monday in San Gabriel Canyon north of Azusa, sheriff's deputies reported.

The body, fully clothed, was discovered along Highway 39 about two miles north of Morris Dam. A passing motorist spotted it.

The victim was white and in his mid-30s. He had been shot in the back of his head.

Montclair OKs sewer plan in annexed areas

A policy, recommended by the Planning Commission and designed to handle sewer service to future annexations, was unanimously approved by Montclair City Council Monday night.

City Administrator Lauren M. Wasserman said that basically the policy stipulates that when annexation is irrevocable, the city must promise sewage capacity.

This would require expansion of sewage treatment facilities comparable to population growth.

Wasserman said that currently Montclair is just about to capacity, with about 100 units left. "We plan to keep these for existing families in the city with septic tanks who may have to hook into the sewer system," he explained.

In another action, the City Council agreed to initiate annexation proceedings on 53 acres between Mission Boulevard, Howard Street and Ramona and Monte Vista avenues, which is within the city's zone of influence.

This section contains a 10-acre school site, and the Ontario-Montclair School District has agreed to the annexation effort.

Upland developer Wayne Blanton is planning to build single family homes on half-acre lots on the remaining 43 acres.

Councilmen spent an hour discussing placement of main transmission power lines in a 74-home tract to be developed by Alan Sandorf, president of Sandorf Building Co., on the east side of Ramona Avenue north of Grand Avenue and south of Mission Boulevard.

Finally, they agreed to override a Planning Commission recommendation and allow Sandorf to place the main transmission lines, which will be above ground, along equestrian trails along Ramona Avenue instead of on residential properties.

Utilities serving the residential units will be underground, Wasserman said.

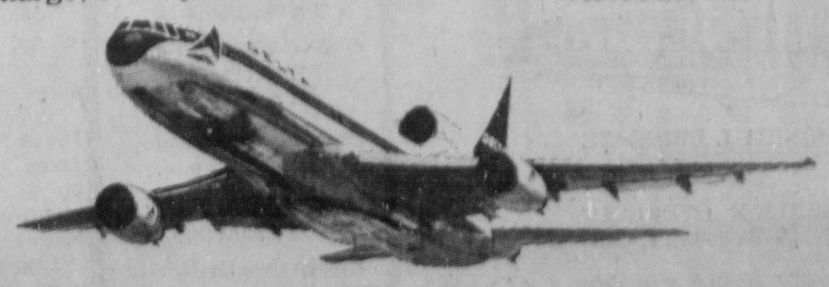

Site preparation for this development is underway.

EDWARD KOCH

Koch wins N.Y. runoff

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Edward Koch, a liberal who eased slightly to the right during the campaign, has won the runoff for the Democratic nomination to be the next mayor of Democrat-dominated New York.

Koch defeated Mario Cuomo, New York's secretary of state who had early backing from Gov. Hugh Carey. The governor indicated on the eve of Monday's runoff that he would back the winner provided he won by a substantial margin.

"All of the people, people from every borough, must join together to rebuild New York," Koch, a five-term Congressman, declared after capturing 55 per cent of the vote that all but assured his election as the city's 105th mayor. About 800,000 Democrats voted.

The 52-year-old bachelor from Greenwich Village reiterated a campaign theme that sacrifices must be made "to get the city back on its feet."

Early polls placed Koch sixth in a seven-way race in the regular primary on Sept. 8. But Koch, who represents the Silk Stocking district of Manhattan's East Side that was also the home base of former mayor John Lindsay, and Cuomo finished ahead of the field, setting up the runoff because neither received at least 40 per cent of the vote.

Koch won endorsements from the New York Daily News and the New York Post and ran an expensive advertising campaign.

During the campaign, Koch came out for the death penalty and said the National Guard should have been called in to quell looting during the blackout this past summer.

The 45-year-old Cuomo, who received the editorial endorsement of The New York Times, will remain on the ballot in November as the Liberal party nominee. He told his disappointed supporters: "It's not over."

But Cuomo's chances for victory in November, like those of Republican nominee Roy Goodman and Conservative Barry Farber, are considered bleak at best.

In the only other race decided in Monday's runoff, State Sen. Carol Bellamy, 35, defeated incumbent Paul O'Dwyer, 70, by a nearly 2-to-1 margin for the Democratic nomination as city council president.

Under fire for vowing to pardon murderer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee's Gov. Ray Blanton, who vetoed the state's death penalty law, has drawn the ire of some politicians and newspapers by promising to pardon a man convicted of double murder who works as a photographer for the state.

The focus of the controversy is Roger Humphreys, 30, son of the Democratic governor's patronage chief in Johnson City. Humphreys was convicted of second-degree murder for killing his ex-wife and her lover in 1973.

Blanton says Humphreys, a trusty serving 20 to 40 years in the state prison at Nashville, has been rehabilitated and Blanton has promised to pardon him before the end his term as governor in 1979. Humphreys would be eligible for parole in 1984.

Humphreys works by day as a photographer for the state Tourism Department at $100 a week, and spends his nights in a rehabilitation center at the main prison. He uses a state car for assignments, and last month the Secret Service, on the recommendation of Blanton's press secretary, cleared him to cover a visit by Tanzanian President Julius Nyerere.

Before winning trusty status, Humphreys spent about four years in prison, including 575 days in a Johnson City jail awaiting trial and the outcome of appeals.

Blanton's promise to pardon Humphreys came during a television interview Thursday night. "Everything I do is political," he said at the time.

The Jackson Sun has called for Blanton's impeachment.

Councilmen oppose SSTs

INGLEWOOD (AP) — Two city councilmen here have vowed to fight any relaxation of Federal Aviation Administration regulations that would allow the british-French Concorde supersonic transport to land at Los Angeles International Airport.

Almanac

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 20, the 263rd day of 1977. There are 102 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1938, a hurricane swept over parts of New Jersey, New York and New England, taking nearly seven hundred lives.

On this date: In 480 BC, the Greeks defeated the Persians in the naval Battle of Salamis in the Aegean Sea.

In 1519, the Portuguese navigator, Ferdinand Magellan, set out from Spain on a voyage to find a western passage to the Indies, and one of his ships circled the world.

In 1850, Congress voted to ban slave trading in the District of Columbia.

In 1879, national unification of Italy was achieved.

In 1881, Chester Arthur took the oath as the 21st president of the United States after the death of President James Garfield.

In 1973, the British-French supersonic airliner, Concorde, made its first landing in the U.S. — at the dedication of the Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport.

Ten years ago: The British luxury liner, Queen Elizabeth 2, was launched.

Five years ago: A Federal judge allowed the Democratic Party to continue a $3 million damage suit in connection with the Watergate bugging, and to name as a defendant President Richard Nixon's chief fund-raiser, Maurice Stans.

One year ago: President Carter promised sweeping tax reforms that he said would place the burden of government on the wealthy and big business rather than on the working class.

Today's birthdays: Actress Sophia Loren is 43 years old. Fashion designer James Galanos is 53.

Thought for today: No question is ever settled until it is settled right — Ella Wheeler Wilcox, American writer, 1855-1919.

Rehabilitation of Upland school will begin soon

Rehabilitation of Upland Elementary School will begin in late November, about a month earlier than expected, said District Supt. George Renworth.

The Upland school board heard district officials explain that since the rehabilitation is under a $1,105,000 federal grant, the project must begin within 90 days of approval.

The public works grant, from the U.S. Economic Development Administration, was officially awarded to the district on Sept. 5.

Renworth said he was "very pleased" with the grant. "We frankly had hoped to get federal money but we didn't expect it this soon."

One problem, he noted, is the district must find classroom space to accommodate 375 pupils from the school who will have to be relocated while rehabilitation is under way.

Renworth said classrooms elsewhere in the district may have to "double up" with added youngsters. The district also is considering the use of portable trailers.

The expected completion date of the project is September of 1978.

The rehabilitation will include a new roof, new electrical services, the addition of air conditioning, restroom remodeling, painting of the entire building, remodeling of offices and the auditorium, and new carpeting and lighting.

Renworth said the building, at 611 N. Fifth St., was built in 1937. "This badly needed project involves bringing a 40-year-old building up to 1977 standards."

Y offering father-son programs

The Diamond Bar-Walnut YMCA is offering three programs for dads and kids.

One is a Y-Indian Guide program for fathers and sons, grades one to three. The program offers father and son participation in various activities during the year. These include campouts, boat races, a pancake breakfast, the Pinewood Derby, a father-son banquet and bowling.

A father and daughter program known as Y-Indian Princesses provides fathers and daughters a chance to be together and strengthen their relationship. The program is patterned after the Indian society. Activities include camping, bowling, a kite fly and rollerskating.

A father and child program for grades four to eight is called Y-Trailblazers. This gives the older boys and girls and their fathers a chance to be together and enjoy the great outdoors through camping, hiking and fishing. Other activities include auto racing, miniature golf, bowling, a rummage sale and a family picnic.

For more information, persons may call 595-5015.

Kaiser will pass out service awards

Kaiser Steel Corp. will hold a series of service award banquets beginning Wednesday to honor 416 men and women who this year are celebrating 25, 30 or 35 years with the company.

To be honored are 289 employees who are celebrating 25 years of service, 106 with 30 years of service and 21 with 35 years of service.

Because of the large number of awardees, seven banquets will be held at the El Rancho Verde Country Club in Rialto.

The iron and steel division banquet will be held Wednesday; primary mills division Sept. 28; rolling mills division, Oct. 5; sheet and tin division, Oct. 12; shops and services division, Oct. 26; and quality control division, Nov. 2.

The industrial relations division, controllers division and industrial engineering, plant engineering, production planning, purchasing and stores, environmental quality control, traffic and plant management employees will hold a joint meeting on Nov. 16.

Each 25-year employee will receive a wrist watch, mantle clock or desk set (each engraved), jewelry in the form of a tie bar, lapel pin or bracelet. Attached to all gifts is Kaiser Steel's emblem of clasped hands and the motto, "Together We Build." On jewelry, the emblem contains a diamond.

Each 30-year man receives his choice of the emblem with two diamonds on a tie bar or tie tac. Women with 30 years of service have a choice of a bracelet or pin with the emblem containing two diamonds.

Those with 35 years of service will receive the same choice of jewelry offered to 30-year awardees with the addition of a third diamond.

Delivery by 'unicycle'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Pat Tronson, 13, has decided that one wheel would do just as well as two and has begun delivering newspapers on a unicycle.

He said making his route on a unicycle is a "little more difficult but also more interesting" than other ways.

'Rap' group for victims of rape set

A low-cost "rap" group for victims of rape and sexual abuse is being established in Glendora by Foothill Community Mental Health Center.

The weekly, ongoing group is being developed in cooperation with "Project Sister" which operates a rape crisis hotline serving the San Gabriel and Pomona areas.

The program is the only aftercare rape counseling service in the valley. Jean Lupescu, Foothill's business administrator, said the group's purpose is "to provide a safe and understanding group experience with other victims where each participant can share and vent their anger and hurt, their fear and hostility.

"The group will be led by a licensed therapist, and is open to all persons, whether the rape or abuse occurred recently or years ago. We hope that participants will come for as many sessions as they feel they need, with some staying on to help newcomers," she said.

For further information, persons may call the center at (213) 963-4103.

Local officer elected head of training class

A young Pomona police officer, undergoing basic law enforcement training at the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department Academy, has been elected president of his class, Chief R.A. Slaght said today.

The cadet is Joseph Romero, one-time Pomona Police Department Explorer Scout who, with two others, has joined the local department. His companions from Pomona are Leonard Washington and Reginald Stewart.

All are undergoing a 16-week course in basic police procedures at the academy in San Bernardino. They are scheduled to graduate Friday. At that time they will begin regular tours of duty with the Pomona department.

Slaght noted that it is unusual for a cadet from outside San Bernardino County to be elected president of a class of trainees at the academy. The president usually is selected from those cadets to the academy from the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department, he said.

GIVE YOUR APPLIANCES THE AFTERNOON OFF.

Most of the electricity we generate is needed by factories, farms and offices—so people can make a living. The greatest demand for this electricity is during the day. You need electricity to run appliances in your home, too. And the greatest demand for this electricity is also during the day.

Here's the problem: Because of the growing demand for electricity during the day, we'll have to build more power plants. And building power plants today is more expensive. That drives up the cost of electricity to everybody.

Now there's something we all can do to help: Spread the use of electricity more evenly around the clock. Edison is working with large industrial customers to help them find ways to shift some of their electric use to the evening hours. But most people prefer to work during the day, so there's only so much industry can do without drastic rescheduling of work shifts.

It's afternoon use of electricity that's the biggest problem. So you can help by doing some of your daily routine at night or in the morning. Perhaps you can wash and dry your clothes at night. Use your dishwasher at night. Iron in the evening. Bake in the morning.

It means changing your routine a bit. But if we do use electricity wisely, it will help to hold down the cost in the future.

SEN. JOHN BRIGGS, R-Fullerton, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Pomona-East San Gabriel Valley Young Republicans Thursday.

The meeting will be held in the science lecture hall at Azusa Pacific College at 7:30 p.m.

Legislation by ASSEMBLYMAN BILL MCVITTIE, D-65th Dist., Upland, prohibiting lawyers from serving both natural and prospective parents in adoptions, has been signed into law by Governor Brown.

The ban takes effect Jan. 1, 1978. It will not apply in cases where both parties agree to the dual representation.

Purpose of the law, McVittie explained, is to make sure a woman who gives up her child does not make the decision to do so under duress.

After listening to MCVITTIE make an appeal to give law enforcement tools needed to end the child pornography trade in California, the Assembly Wednesday approved legislation cracking down on smut merchants who prey on juveniles.

The bill, S. B. 817, is co-authored by McVittie. It now returns to the Senate for expected concurrence, after which it will go to the Governor's desk for his signature.

The DEMOCRATIC PARTY booth in the Commercial Building at the Los Angeles County Fair is being sponsored by the fourth consecutive year by the Eleanor Roosevelt Democratic Club which serves valley Democrats.

It is financed by club and individual contributions and staffed by volunteers from Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Orange counties.

Deputy registrars are on duty to register new voters and reregister those who have married or moved.

Free county, state and federal literature is being distributed.

Mrs. Norman Tournay of Claremont is booth chairman. Committee members are Mrs. Ted Radamaker of Claremont and Mrs. Al Perry and Mrs. William Kaminski, both of Pomona.

PEBBLE BEACH BANKER WILLIAM A. BURKETT, 64, has announced his candidacy against GOVERNOR BROWN in the Democratic primary for the nomination as governor.

He made his announcement Thursday in a speech before the California State Chamber of Commerce in Fresno.

Burkett is a conservative Democrat. He attacked President Carter's plan for amnesty for illegal aliens and ripped Brown's tax legislation and water plan. He called Brown "fiscally irresponsible."

VICTOR V. VEYSEY, former Congressman and Assistant Secretary of the Army, has been named to head the industrial relations center for the California Institute of Technology (Caltech) in Pasadena.

The center conducts more than 50 management seminars and workshops a year for executives. It offers advisory and research and development facilities in management for California industry and prepares students for managerial roles.

Dr. Robert F. Christy, acting president, said Veysey's "many diverse talents should broaden and enhance the center as an invaluable aid to California industry."

Veysey, former Claremont resident who lost his House seat in 1974 and became the Army's first assistant secretary of civil works, received his B. S. in civil engineering from Caltech in 1936. He earned a master's in industrial management from Harvard University in 1938.

Veysey worked as a manager in private industry before his election to the California Legislature in 1962.

SEN. H. L. "BILL" RICHARDSON, R-25th Dist., Arcadia, Wednesday introduced legislation that would rescind postcard registration and require voters to register in person.

"Did you know you could register your dog, cat or pet hamster to vote? Of course, if your dog's name is Fido, you may have to stretch the truth a bit. A name like Harry would be more convincing," said Richardson.

"Don't laugh," he added. "It's actually being done. There are even cases where illegal aliens have registered in order to use the registration slips as proof of citizenship. Next they'll be voting in our elections."

Richardson said his bill will not solve all the problems, but it will make fraud more difficult.

"Also, why should the taxpayers have to support a multimillion-dollar postcard system just for people who can't bother to register in person?" he asked.

Lloyd not worried about Demos losing seats due to Lance issue

PB Washington Bureau

Republican leaders are saying budget director Bert Lance's problems could mean a gain of between 30 and 40 congressional seats next election, but Democratic Rep. Jim Lloyd, 35th Dist., isn't worried.

"I've taken a clear-cut stand on the issue," Lloyd said in a recent interview.

Lloyd believes President Jimmy Carter should get rid of Lance and he also thinks the President should "review very carefully" the value of Press Secretary Jody Powell.

Powell has admitted trying to plant a negative story about Sen. Charles Percy, R.-Ill., a chief critic of Lance.

Lloyd called Powell's action "stupid," a characterization common regarding the move on Capitol Hill, and said the press secretary had "no right, especially in light of Watergate . . . " to do what he did.

"I don't see the difference between Powell and (Ron) Ziegler (Richard Nixon's former press secretary) at this point," Lloyd added.

In a press release last week, Lloyd joined the call for Lance's resignation.

Lance, director of the Office of Management and Budget, is under fire for alleged unethical and possibly unresponsible activities while the head of two Georgia banks.

During the interview, Lloyd acknowledged the difficulty Carter faces in dispatching a close friend such as Lance. But he warned there could be "severe political consequences if the President doesn't quickly dispense of Lance."

"If the President was sincere when coming into this . . . he would be less than honest in light of his selfrighteousness . . . (if he didn't) ask for Lance's resignation," Lloyd added.

As for his own position in his Southern California district, Lloyd said the Lance problem would present him with no difficulties.

"There is nothing I can do about the situation," Lloyd pointed out.

Wrightwood residents hope to get W.H. animals

They go nuts over squirrels

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

No one doubts that congressmen find themselves involved in some squirrelly deals.

Rep. Jim Lloyd, D-35th Dist., is no exception. But if he is able to complete his latest deal with the squirrels, both Washington, D.C., and the community of Wrightwood, in his district, will be pleased.

It seems the White House grounds are being overrun with a squirrel population boom and a recent story in the press said that many of the red and gray fuzzy-tailed animals would have to be eliminated.

A reader in Wrightwood spotted the story and immediately made a plea to the congressman's field representative, Maggie O'Donnell, to try to obtain the squirrels for the mountain area north of here.

Wrightwood residents, for years, were proud of their friendly squirrels and most residents kept filled feeders to please the animals.

Then, about a year ago, the mountain squirrels were decimated by a plague of ticks in spite of attempts by naturalists and San Bernardino County officials to save them.

"I'm checking into whether a transcontinental squirrel transfer is feasible," said Lloyd. "It would be nice to service both areas."

Local community leaders have expressed interest, but there are still a number of problems to be worked out, added Lloyd.

The congressman has contacted both the National Park Service and the White House to make initial inquiries into the possible repopulation of squirrels in the San Bernardino National Forest.

"People will no longer be able to say there are too many squirrels in our nation's capital," said Lloyd.

The Wrightwood residents, as one pointed out, don't mind being called a bit squirrelly.

S.D. offers dance classes

A wide variety of dance classes will be offered this fall by the San Dimas Recreation Department.

The classes last for nine weeks. They will start on Oct. 10 and end Dec. 5. A recital will be held at the end of each session.

Registrations will be held Sept. 27 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at San Dimas City Hall, 245 E. Bonita Ave. Further information may be obtained by calling 599-6713, ext.40.

Supervisor to expand energy-saving method in county buildings

Los Angeles County Supervisor James Hayes said he will expand the use of automated building controls as a method to save energy in county buildings and at the same time put the county on a strict conservation schedule to meet a goal of a 25 percent reduction in energy consumption.

Hayes, chairman of the County Energy Commission, said the county pioneered use of what is called the Building Environmental Automated System, or BEAS, which is the outgrowth of an experiment he conducted in 1974 at the Norwalk County Building.

"By the use of sensors placed throughout the building, information on inside and outside temperature, the number of people expected to enter and leave the building, and other factors that affect the need for heating and cooling can be transmitted to a computer," Hayes said.

The computer is programmed to regulate energy use, the supervisor said, with far more accuracy than a human.

In addition to the installation of BEAS in a total of 90 larger county buildings by 1980, Hayes said that he wants the county's mechanical department to spearhead efforts to bring a full 25 percent reduction in energy consumption as soon as possible.

"Energy conservation programs I initiated in 1974 during the Arab oil embargo proved very successful," the supervisor said. "But then we started to backslide when it looked like the crisis was past."

Hayes said that energy saving amounted to 30 percent in 1974, but dropped to as low as 15 percent until he re-instituted strict conservation programs earlier this year.

"We are now averaging about 23 percent," Hayes said.

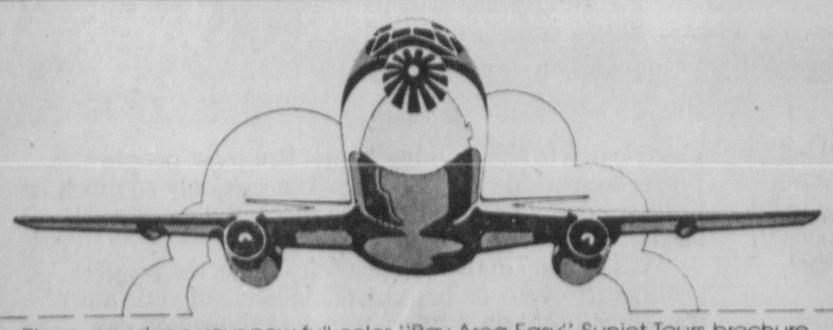

The BEAS installation will cost $1,447,550, but when the system is installed in 1980 will save $852,316 a year in utility bills. The Honeywell Corp. was the low bidder on a contract to install BEAS in county buildings.

La Verne purchases new city hall

$750,000 in cash pays for Shea Building on D Street

By BOB NAGEY
PB Staff Writer

The City of La Verne bought a new city hall for $750,000 cash Monday night.

The City Council authorized City Manager George Caswell to take the money out of the general operating fund and place it into escrow by Oct. 3 so the transaction can be completed by Oct. 4.

The new city hall, the present Shea Building at 3660 D St., is about a mile north of the home the city has used since 1932. At 16,000 square feet of floor space, it is about twice as large as the present quarters.

Caswell said plans call for moving into the new building during the weekend of Oct. 22 and 23. The first City Council meeting is scheduled to be held there Nov. 7.

The building was to be bought through a lease-option agreement, but that was scrapped three months ago when the transaction was delayed.

Caswell said the city was able to pay cash because of the additional revenue generated by population growth during the past two years. An additional $10,000 will be needed to make the necessary indoor adjustments that will turn the office building into a city hall.

Plans also call for the police department to take over the area left vacant by the move of the city hall staff. The police department thus will double its own quarters, but the alterations are expected to cost about $100,000 because portions of the building are in need of repair.

Caswell insists there will be no need for outside funding such as a bond issue because of the city's current healthy financial position.

The new city hall was built about six years ago by Edward Shea as a central office building for his sprawling interests. However, Shea's plans did not work out and most of the building has remained unused for the past five years.

A portion of the Shea Building is now leased to the state for office space. Caswell said the city will honor that agreement and will take over the lease arrangement for the time being.

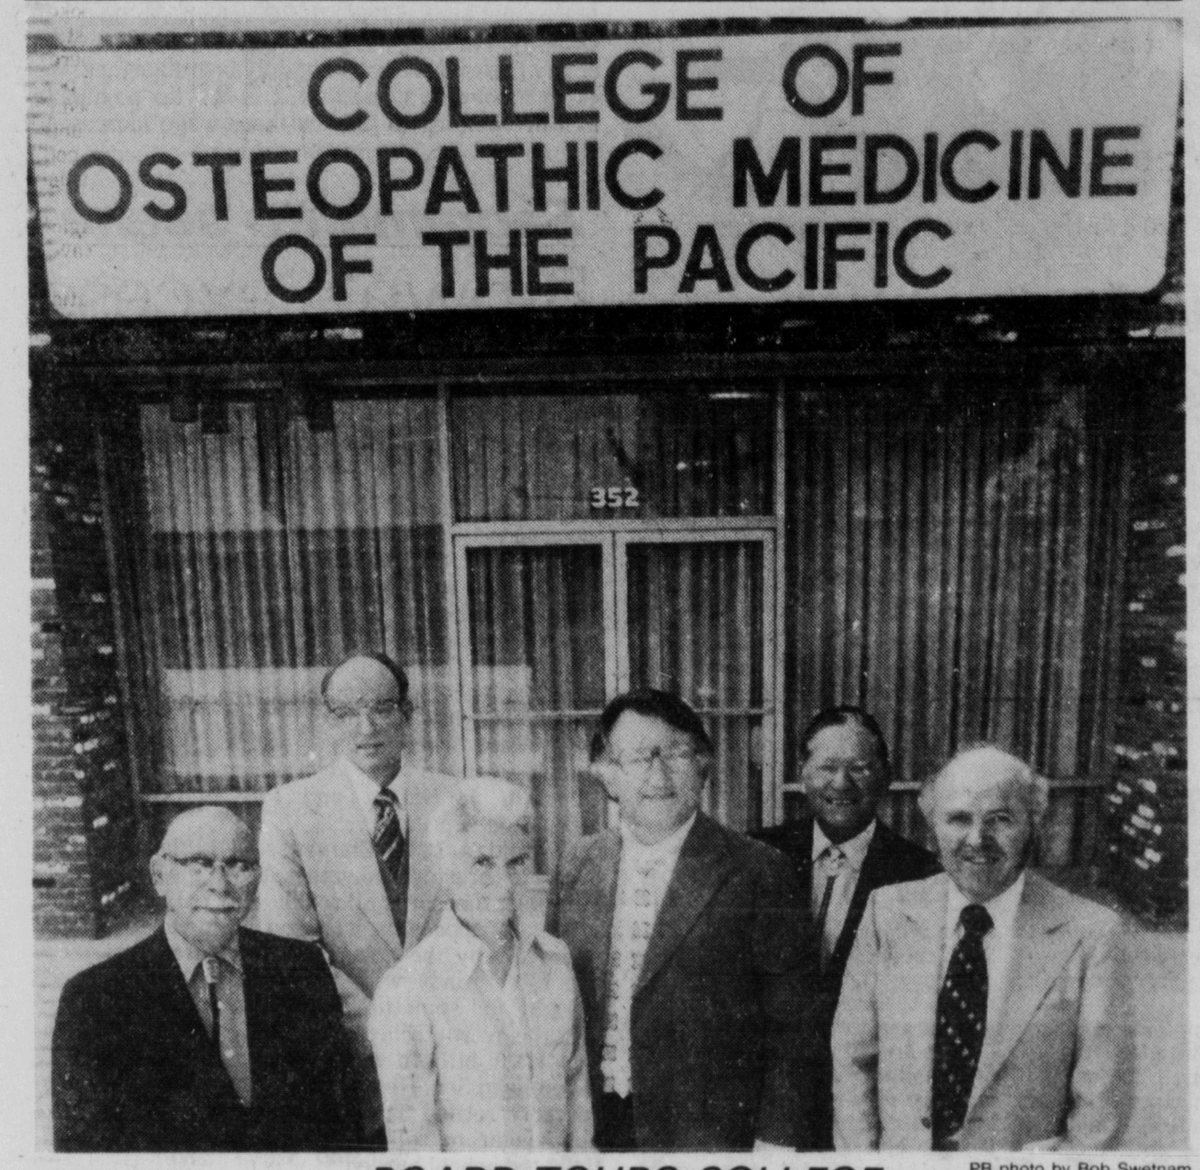

Plans also call for the construction of a new branch library adjacent to the building to accomodate La Verne's larger population.

The proposal to build the branch is being prepared for the county Board of Supervisors and will be submitted for the 1978-79 budget.

The council, in an unrelated matter, postponed until 7:30 tonight final action that would freeze construction of all new homes throughout the city.

The daylong delay was caused by the inability of the city's water consultant, Kenneth Mullen, to attend the meeting.

Caswell told the council Mullen's son was in a car accident Monday and that Mullen was at his son's bedside.

Development concepts for north Upland OK'd

By ED PRATHER
PB Staff Writer

Non-conventional development concepts for one of the few remaining prime vacant areas in Upland were accorded general approval Monday night by the Upland City Council.

The council concurred in planning recommendations allowing the city to prevent patchwork development of the northwest Mountain Avenue sector, an area covering more than 500 developable acres that could support a population of up to 5,000 persons.

Council action included adoption of a radically altered future alignment for Benson Avenue north of the proposed Foothill Freeway right-of-way, and elimination of the grid street pattern west of Mountain Avenue north of 20th Street.

City Planner Bill Young said the steps would reduce land waste, leapfrog building that leaves vacant lots scattered amid developed tracts, and over loaded street systems.

Young said the key council action was adoption of a "Residential Planned Unit Development" (PRUD) amendment to the zoning regulations, which gives the city increased control over developers.

The PRUD, which can be implemented at the city's discretion, will force developers to allow for convenient location of schools, parks, churches and other non-residential uses, and mandate land configurations creating sensible street patterns.

"Admittedly it will be more costly for developers and more difficult to administer, but it can accomodate full neighborhood development," said Young.

The problem in the past, and in present developments other places in the city, said Young, is that builders start with the cheapest land — parcels removed from streets.

Development then occurs haphazardly back toward the major roads, creating a patchwork of culde-sacs that inevitably lead to congested traffic patterns and complicate delivery of city services to residents.

Under the PRUD, with the Benson Avenue alignment, developers would have to construct better street alignments.

Young added that it may also be an appropriate tool for other sections of the city as well.

He said he was confident developers would be willing to cooperate, assuming density requirements made the area economically attractive.

In that regard, the council indicated a density of three units per acre would be acceptable.

Only Councilman Hal Bailin protested, saying that designation reserves the entire area for "those of great affluence."

At the other extreme was Councilman William Bottin, who wanted only half-acre or larger lots.

Other council members worried that the housing market for that particular lot size was nearing saturation, however.

Although the street pattern adopted for the area will promote good neighborhood design, planners also hope it will reduce some of the traffic volume on Mountain Avenue.

City Engineer Fred Blanchard said that by bending Benson Avenue across to the Mountain Avenue-21st Street intersection a great deal of traffic could be diverted away from Mountain Avenue.

Eventually, he said, another alignment could take traffic from the Mountain-21st corner all the way to Central Avenue at Foothill Boulevard.

Blanchard said the alignments presume the Foothill Freeway will one day be built, or an expressway of some sort along the present right-of-way.

New osteopathic college gains support

Rappel named dean of academic affairs

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

Board of directors of the new College of Osteopathic Medicine of the Pacific being established in downtown Pomona toured the campus and affirmed the appointment of a dean of academic affairs this weekend.

Dr. Robert Rappel, a member of the staff at Park Avenue Hospital in Pomona, was named dean of academic affairs and assumed his duties this week.

Dr. Rappel, who joined the staff of the Pomona osteopathic hospital in January, was in private practice in Florida where he was senior attending surgeon in urology and urologic surgery at three hospitals.

He is a graduate of Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine in Kirksville, Mo.

After touring the facilities of the new college on the Pomona Mall, the school's directors all pledged their support in recruiting funds and program development from their colleagues in the 13 western states to be served by the college.

Since the loss of the College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons in Los Angeles in 1962, residents of the West interested in osteopathic education have been forced to attend mid-Western or Eastern schools where the enrollment opportunities for out-of-state applicants are limited.

In response to the urgent need for additional family physicians in the western states, the College of Osteopathic Medicine of the Pacific is scheduled to open with 36 students in the fall of 1978.

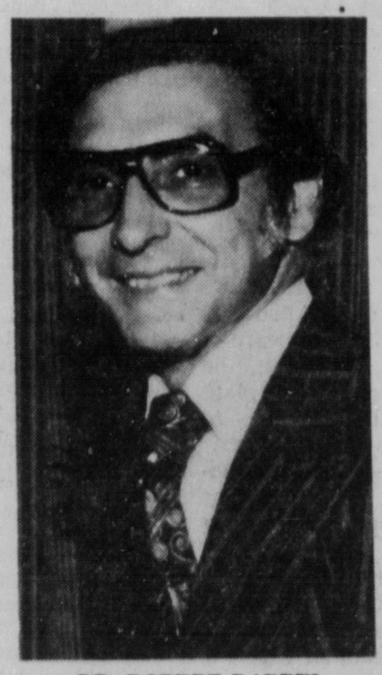

The college is expected to eventually provide as many as 200 graduates annually, 75 to 80 per cent of whom will become family physicians, according to Philip Pumerantz, college president.

The college will comply with the accreditation standards and procedures of the American Osteopathic Association. It anticipates receiving pre-accreditation later this year and provisional accreditation in mid-1978. Full accreditation will be available in four years, when the first class graduates.

The new college will occupy facilities on the Pomona Mall, where over 100,000 square feet of available floor space can, with minimum cost, be conformed to medical school use. These buildings with improvements will cost approximately $1 million.

Dr. Ethan R. Allen of Norwalk is chairman of the board of the college.

Other board members are Dr. Viola M. Frymann of La Jolla, secretary; Dr. Richard E. Eby, Pomona, treasurer; Frank T. Carr, Pomona, Stephen G. Kase, La Mirada, Dr. Donald R. Dilworth, Escondido, who is president of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons of California; and Saul Bernat, executive director of New Mexico Osteopathic Medical Association.

Pomona board meets tonight

The Pomona school board will meet today at 7:30 p.m. in the Education Center board room to consider hiring a consultant for its data processing program needs and to consider the possible appointment of an adult school principal and an administrative assistant for bilingual education.

The meeting had originally been scheduled for the gymnasium at Marshall Junior High School, but was changed at the last minute due to widespread community interest in the district's administrative reorganization.

Fair menu

Fair officials hope for continued sunny weather Wednesday as the Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona continues to draw thousands of visitors through its gates.

Attendance Monday during the first of two Senior Citizen Days was 45,394 compared to 31,291 in 1976.

Attendance for the first four days of the 17-day run of the fair was 291,148, compared with 269,152 last year.

Special events of the day Wednesday include an auction of top-quality meat animals, a chocoloate cake contest, and the opening performance of an international troupe of Up With People.

The sale of several hundred blue ribbon and better steers, lambs and hogs shown by Future Farmers, 4-H members, and college students starts at 1 p.m. for market swine and lambs and 7 p.m. for steers.

Buyers may register up to the time of the bidding.

Up With People, an inspiational musical program for young people from throughout the world, opens as the free evening Grandstand show at 8 p.m.

"My Favorite Chocolate Cake" judging will be held in the Home Arts Showcase at 7 p.m.

Other showcase features Wednesday include seafood and unusual Mexican cuisine, custom cakes, and teas of the world.

Other home arts demonstrations include china painting, weaving, spinning, woodcarving and quilting.

Derby Trial Stakes with $17,500 added is the feature race in the 11-event card of the fair racing meet which begins daily except Sunday at 1 p.m.

The California Cutting Horse Association will present a free horse show in the Carnation Show Ring at 1 p.m.

Iron Eyes Cody, the famed crying Indian who has been featured in environmental advertising, will be master of ceremonies at the National Indian Fair.

Chino council will consider outlawing possession of aerosol spray cans by minors

An anti-graffiti ordinance that would outlaw the possession of aerosol spray paint cans by minors between 8 p.m. and 8 a.m. in the City of Chino will be considered by the City Council tonight.

Chino Police Chief Gerald Doyle will recommend the adoption of the ordinance that will also make it unlawful to sell spray paint cans to minors or to display such cans at self-service counters.

"We've got a lot of graffiti in Chino," said Doyle. "It's a deplorable condition."

The spray paint ordinance was modeled after a similar law in San Dimas that was adopted about one year ago.

"They've reported very good results in cutting down on the incidents of graffiti in their city," said Doyle.

The police chief believes such an ordinance in Chino would give officers an added tool to combat the defacing of both public and private property in the city.

YMCA programs

The West End YMCA's Interlift program will have an orientation meeting Wednesday at 7 p.m., said Mike Hudson, community program director.

"We are hoping that every high school student in the community will stop at the YMCA in the next few days to see what the Y has to offer them."

Information on the Interlift program and a schedule of events may be obtained at the orientation meeting or by calling the YMCA at 986-5847.

Next is junk phone calls

People who dislike "junk mail" — unsolicited advertising delivered at cut rates by the post office — are really going to hate what comes next: junk telephone calls.

Marketing experts say higher postal rates and possible cutbacks in deliveries are causing some companies to plan to make their sales pitches by phone.

Automated equipment already exists that will let firms dial thousands of homes an hour, play tape-recorded messages praising their products and then record customer orders on tape.

Even an unlisted phone number will be no protection against such calls. The equipment can be programmed to dial every combination of numbers in a specific telephone exchange.

Clearly junk calls will be more annoying than junk mail. If a person doesn't like mailed advertisements, all he has to do is deposit them unread in the wastebasket. But he is unlikely to refuse to answer the telephone, since the call might be important.

Imagine, if you will, a fellow taking a nice hot bath while he's alone in the house. The phone rings, he races down the hall trailing soapsuds because the call could represent an emergency. Then, when he answers, he is importuned to buy a combination floor mop and toilet bowl cleaner.

Now this man is not just going to feel his privacy was invaded. He's going to want to commit mayhem; but he'll only have a poor dumb recording to shout at.

Ever one to protect the public (and to get himself some publicity), Rep. Les Aspin of Wisconsin says he is introducing a bill in Congress to protect citizens from what he calls "the ultimate invasion of privacy by advertisers."

Aspin's measure would give telephone subscribers a chance each year to notify the phone company that they do not wish to receive such unsolicited phone calls.

Companies that use the automated equipment would have to get from the phone company a list of persons not to call. They could be fined up to $1,000 for calling a name on the list.

Aspin's bill may be premature, since junk calls are more of a future threat than a present nuisance. However, if the practice becomes widespread, something like Aspin proposes will have to be done.

Advertising certainly has a place in American life. But if companies stoop to calling people at all hours, disturbing the sick, waking up babies, causing dogs to bark and strong men to curse in frustration, then junk phoning must be curbed.

School lunches flunk out

You can send a kid to school, but you can't make him eat the lunches there.

That seems to be the way it is in too many school lunchrooms these days. Much of the food served to students is wasted. Some students won't even try it. They'd rather bring a peanut butter sandwich and a banana than take a chance on the cafeteria line.

The federal government, which spends about $2 billion a year on food for schools, is well aware of the lunches-are-yukky syndrome. In fact, the Agriculture Department hopes to reduce plate waste next year by serving smaller portions to young children and larger portions to teen-agers.

But the more basic problem — one that administrators are being prodded to solve — is that school lunches simply aren't as appetizing as they should be.

A kid would be better off with a milkshake and a hamburger than with some of the drab concoctions served in school cafeterias. In some cases, the stuff has been precooked and reheated. In other cases, it falls into the stewed tomatoes and brussels sprout category — something most kids wouldn't eat even if their mothers made it.

Some kids are given only 15 or 20 minutes to wolf down lunch before returning to class. Others are forced to eat in noisy, crowded lunchrooms that don't do much for the digestion.

Let's make school lunches more attractive. Then maybe students will eat their blue-plate specials instead of dumping them in the garbage can.

Thoughts

Who through faith conquered kingdoms, enforced justice, received promises, stopped the mouths of lions, strength out of weakness, became mighty in war, put foreign armies to flight. — Hebrews 11:33,34.

Faith, mighty faith, the promise sees and looks to God alone. Laughs at impossibilities, and cries, "It shall be done." — Charles Wesley, English clergyman.

Not so with my servant Moses; he is entrusted with all my house. With him I speak mouth to mouth, clearly, and not in dark speech; and he beholds the form of the Lord. Why then were you not afraid to speak against my servant Moses? — Numbers 12:7,8.

Speak clearly if you speak at all; carve every word before you let it fall. — Oliver Wendell Holmes, American essayist.

Unions' misuse of power

Dear Editor:

The Labor Day, Sept. 5, Progress Bulletin newspaper quoted I.W. Abel, retired president of the United Steelworkers, as saying the nation needs the Humphrey-Hawkins bill, which "will get people back to work." Also quoted was Lane Kirkland, AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer who stated, "Unions use their power to help all workers, all citizens not just union members."

The AFL-CIO president George Meany stated earlier to the news media he was in favor of "Instant Voter Registration," the Panama Canal Treaty and the Humphrey-Hawkins bill.

Now if the unions use their power to help all workers, all citizens not just union members, how come they are pushing for these items? The truth is — the Humphrey-Hawkins bill, instant voter registration and the Panama Canal Treaty are all of benefit to America's enemies only!

As an old-time union member and a strong American citizen, I can't accept these union officials' actions. If a poll were taken, it would show that most union members feel as I do.

Too bad the unions couldn't use their power to help make America the nation it should be, a strong united nation.

Age overtakes the Kremlin

WASHINGTON — Age is slowly, inexorably overtaking the old revolutionaries who rule the Soviet Union. In a few years, they will be completely replaced in the Kremlin by a new set of leaders.

This is giving U.S. strategists the flutters as they try to anticipate whom the new leaders will be and how their views will affect world affairs. No one has enough solid information to judge whether the moderates or hardheads will come to power.

The real political power in the Soviet Union is concentrated in the Politburo, the policymaking arm of the Communist party. There are 14 full members, but only six really count: Leonid Brezhnev, Yuriy Andropov, Andrei Gromyko, Andrei Kirilenko, Aleksei Kosygin and Mikhail Suslov.

The average age of the full Politburo is 66 1/2; but the average age of the Big Six is 70. According to our sources, none of the Kremlin patriarchs are threatened with "identifiable, life-threatening conditions." But several are showing signs of advancing age. They tire easily, and a slight case of the flu can keep them in bed for weeks.

Leonid Brezhnev, the Grand Sachem of the Communist party, is plagued with circulatory problems and may even have suffered a stroke. He occasionally slurs his words and has difficulty walking. He is a bad air traveler and doesn't adjust easily to jet lag.

In the old days, he used to smoke and guzzle vodka heavily, but he has now sworn off cigarettes and cut back on his alcohol intake. He also has a painful dental problem, which may be the result of his former smoking habit. More likely, it stems from a distortion of the jaw which has bothered him since he was a young man.

Brezhnev, who will be 71 in December, has had a strenuous year. But last June, he showed signs of severe fatigue and disorientation during a three-day visit in France. He was, say American observers, "very, very tired." But he returned to Moscow, disappeared for a two-week rest, and emerged with renewed energy.

Aleksei Kosygin, now 73 years old, is a sturdy Slav with few health problems. For years, U.S. analysts studied every new picture of him in an effort to determine whether a dime-sized mole on his left cheek showed signs of skin cancer. Apparently tired of the rumors that he was afflicted with the disease, he disappeared for nearly three months last fall and reappeared with the mole removed.

During Kosygin's absence, the diplomatic gossip mill carried the tale that he had suffered a heart attack. American officials, however, give the story little credence. They note that he still goes on lengthy fishing expeditions and arduous hikes with President Urho Kekkonen of Finland.

Since 1963, it has been rumored that Mikhail Suslov, the party's ideological high priest, has tuberculosis. For a man who will be 75 in November, he appears to be holding up under the burden pretty well. Suslov, nevertheless, is succumbing to advancing years and is visibly slowing down. He is the last of the romantic revolutionaries, say our sources; when he goes, there will be no one around "who can interpret the faith like he can."

Andrei Kirilenko is the Politburo's chief of industry. If something should happen to Brezhnev, Kirilenko is the man most likely to step into the big shoes. But Kirilenko, already 71, would probably hold the job for only a short period. He is considered a hard worker and suffers no known health problems.

Also in good health is Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, 68. He was out of sight for a period during this past winter, and rumors circulated that he had been stricken with a heart attack. Just as the gossip reached its peak, he reappeared. It is now believed he was merely down with the flu.

The remaining member of the Big Six, secret police chief Yuriy Andropov, 63, also was rumored to have a heart condition. But he, too, was apparently sick with the flu.

Of the remaining minor members of the Politburo, only 78-year-old Arvid Pelshe is thought to be knocking at death's door. U.S. analysts thought him nearly gone in 1971, when his official photograph depicted him as positively cadaverous. But he bounced back, appearing in a subsequent photo cheerfully attired in a pink shirt and Glen Plaid jacket — avant garde apparel for the stodgy Soviet warhorses.

LABOR SCANDAL — For years, many companies have blatantly ignored court orders to stop harassing workers who are trying to join a union. The most notorious offender is J.P. Stevens Co., the giant textile conglomerate which has conducted illegal activities against union organizers. Such firms find it is cheaper to pay court fines than general wage increases to their employees.

We have had access to the confidential files of the Senate Labor subcommittee, which has been investigating unfair labor practices. The Hickman Garment Co. of Hickman, Ky., for example, was quite adept at suppressing its workers' rights. The firm tried to discourage its employees from forming a union with such tactics as threats, coerced interrogations and illegal firings.

The Fetzer Broadcasting Co. of Cadillac, Mich., also discriminated against union organizers, demoting one woman reporter to a secretary's job. The firm's vice president, Gene Ellerman, has boasted that unfair labor practices "delay negotiations and that's okay as long as they keep the union out." He told us the matter has been settled.

Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., is pushing a bill that would put new teeth into the National Labor Relations Board.

Americans working!

Headlines which focus on Americans who are not working tend to leave the impression that we are a nation of goldbricks. We are not.

There is still so much Horatio Algerism left alive in our people that there are more than 4 million Americans holding down two or more jobs — almost 5 percent of all workers are doing double-duty! What is more, our workers are more productive than those in other countries.

A lot of Americans are goofing off; that none can deny. Some families have been three generations on welfare; that is a scandalous indictment of "the system" which encourages idleness.

Yet, in spite of that negative influence, Americans remain the most industrious people on this planet!

Andy Rooney researched this ratio for CBS, surprised himself to learn that for every $100 worth of goods which the average American worker produces, the average Canadian produces $92 worth, the French worker $81, the German — for all his reputation as a hard worker — produces $74 worth of goods, the average Japanese $61, the average Italian $55. And the average Britisher — with his Labor government — has been so weaned away from the work ethic that he now produces only $54 worth of goods. About half as much as the United States of American worker.

Let it be said that American workers look better partly because of the phenomenal productivity of our farmers.

Also, where one-in-six Americans works for government, where productivity is more difficult to measure and goofing off is more obvious, in most of those other nations that percentage is even higher.

Arnold Toynbee once predicted that by the year 2000 only 25 percent of the world's people would be working and that those who did work would be paid high wages for a 25-hour work week.

Evidence now indicates he miscalculated the relative attraction of work versus idleness. Idleness is like a rich dessert; there's just so much you can take.

Rooney's research convinced him that if the day ever came when our work was performed by machines, so that we could all be on an endless vacation, bored Americans would immediately go to work inventing a machine to take those vacations for them!

Rutgers University researchers interviewed 1,026 auto workers, discovered 95 percent of them "happy" in their work.

All things considered — automation, improved equipment, streamlined procedures — the average American worker is producing more than his grandfather did. available for comparison, a significant fringe benefit was mentioned recently in a Soviet study of longevity.

Russia claims 19,304 centenarians.

The Soviet Institute of Gerontology found that "almost all of the 40,000 very elderly who were interviewed had continued working to an advanced age."

A vineyard worker to age 124, a carpenter to age 126 and a shepherd to age 131!

Just in jest

How, I wonder, did people manage to exist in these United States before the automobile horn was invented? Don't laugh! I'm deadly serious. Just imagine! You couldn't "HONK IF YOU LOVE JESUS." — But even more frustrating, 300 off-duty policemen in Indianapolis would never have been able to lock and abandon their cars, leaving the sirens blowing in full blast to protest because they wanted higher wage increases. It's things like that which convince me one of the big troubles with this country is that there are too many 30-, 40-, 50- and 60-year-old teen-agers abroad in the land still trying to prove they are only as old as they feel. But perhaps the thing that frustrates me the most is that day after day I read in my newspaper that federal government employees, congressmen, judges and even police officers who leave their car sirens on full blast have been granted another round of pay raises. Not that I actually begrudge them the extra money. It's just that it is MY tax payments that are helping to finance those wage increases.

Brown's excess of veto power

By EARL G. WATERS

While it is more the fault of the Legislature for permitting the unbridled exercise of the veto by governors to go unchallenged, an example of the harsh effect of unthinking vetoes by Gov. Jerry Brown is to be found in his rejection of SB 798.

Brown comes by the brash overuse of the veto as a natural result of the Legislature's timidity over many years. In fact, the override of Brown's death penalty veto marked the second time the Legislature has not meekly submitted to vetoes since Earl Warren was governor back in 1945. Ronald Reagan was overridden once but both Goodwin J. Knight and Pat Brown escaped legislative supremacy.

In contrast to Congress, which regularly overrides presidential vetoes, the Legislature, after laboring measures through its entire difficult process of approvals, has been willing to accept disapprovals by the governor. No matter that these are often made with little or no knowledge or thought and sometimes on whim and caprice.

In the overall scheme of things SB 798 was an unimportant bill. It was a school bill authored by Republican Sen. Ray Johnson which applied only to sparsely settled Trinity County. But because the bill sought to relieve its taxpayers of an unanticipated school burden, it was of great importance to that tiny county even though the amount involved was only $22,000.

Brown has been urging more effort to remedy the state's employment problems. He has cited the needs for training people for jobs. Trinity responded. Lacking its own resources, it contracted with neighboring Shasta County to conduct classes under the Regional Occupation Program. The courses were approved by the state Department of Education. A total of 43 persons attended.

Meanwhile a measure was passing through the Legislature limiting financing for such programs. The limit was based upon the previous year's enrollment. Therein lies the trap. Since it was a new program Trinity had no previous year enrollment as a base. Already committed, it faced losing the state educational aid.

As Shasta deputy county counsel Patrick J. Tillman wrote to the Department of Education, "All of the courses were approved and teachers were contracted with to conduct the classes. All of these actions were initiated prior to SB 1641 (the limitations bill) or any of the subsequent amendments to that bill." Tillman concluded by urging the department honor its commitments approving the program.

Acting to remedy the situation, unique in the whole state to Trinity, Johnson authored SB 798 and, with the support of the Department of Education, succeeded in convincing his colleagues that Trinity deserved this one time assistance from the state because it was an unforeseen result of the limitations bill.

He didn't manage the support of the governor, however, for Brown summarily vetoed the bill. In his brief veto message it appeared that he didn't understand the measure at all, for he said "I do not agree that costs incurred by Shasta County should be a special state obligation." The fact is, the costs will be borne by Trinity, not Shasta.

Then, again, maybe Brown did know it was Trinity and remembered that less than 4,000 persons go to the polls in that neck of the woods

Ann Landers

OK, I fell flat on my face

Dear Ann Landers: Why don't YOU wake up and smell the coffee? You told Bertha to iron her husband's shorts — after she told you he has been wearing them unironed for seven years.

Why do you suppose a man would suddenly demand that his shorts be ironed? And instead of asking her in person he leaves her a smart aleck note yet that starts out with, "Unless you are sick, dying or dead . . ." And to that insult he tells her he is going to check on Tuesday to see if she followed his instructions.

Where is the guy going that all of a sudden he needs his shorts to look so good? Any idiot should be able to figure out that the old boy has taken up with some dishy doll.

For a smart dame you sure fell flat on your face when you answered that one. I couldn't believe your reply. — One Of Your Adoring Public (Formerly)

Dear Ad: You and several thousand others. And now that I think of it I can't figure out why something so obvious escaped my notice. O.K. I'm awake now and the coffee smells a lot better than my answer. I'll take seven lashes with the cord of my own iron. Read on for another blast on the same subject.

Dear Ann Landers: If I didn't have confidence in your sobriety I'd swear you were under the influence when you told Bertha to iron Sam's shorts.

Your theory that Bertha would burn up less energy ironing the darned things than complaining about it cuts no ice.

The Sam in my house figures he does his share when he puts in eight hours a day at his job. I put in a good 16 hours a day here at home and a lot of things I do should be "Sam's" responsibility. It rankles me that I gave up a promising career to get into this mess but I walked into it with my eyes wide open so I won't complain.

I wash everything that comes down the chute and iron everything that needs it but I refuse to iron shorts until there's a let-up on the pressure around here. Fold them neatly — O.K. Iron them — no way.

"Sam" handed me your column and I saw red. Do me a big favor, Ann, and suggest that he help me position that heavy ladder so I can do the necessary maintenance on the upstairs window frames. — Burning in Cleveland

Dear Burn: What are you doing on that ladder anyway? It sounds as if your "Sam" is hopelessly spoiled and nothing I might say would make a dent. Husbands and children must be trained at the beginning. Sorry, dear.

Dear Ann: My husband and I have learned (from statements she has put in writing) that our 20-year-old daughter is having sex with her boyfriend. As if that weren't enough, she has been sexually active with at least six others. "Betty" is now checking into motels and taking a terrible chance with her reputation, if not her body. (She's on the pill.) We are just sick about it.

Should we play dumb? "Betty" lives at home and has had two years of college. Please tell us what to do. — Another Mother

Dear Mother: In a calm, nonjudgmental way tell "Betty" you know she must have problems and you'd like to make counseling available. If she accepts the offer fine. If she doesn't, don't press — just keep the lines of communication open.

What's prudish? What's O.K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Age differences in marriages

Item No. 863A in our Love and War man's file on matrimonial happiness reads: "If the husband is more than 10 years older than the wife, odds run four to one against wedded bliss. If the wife is more than five years older than the husband, odds run nine to one against a successful marriage. But if the ages of the husband and wife are within four years of each other, it makes little difference who's older."

BERLIN

Q. "Who made the World War II decision to stop the Allied forces at the Elbe River in Germany and let Josef Stalin's Soviet troops take Berlin?"

A. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Declassified documents show he unwittingly gave Stalin the go-ahead in a strategy message. Historians now know it wasn't a political decision from Washington, D.C., as many once believed.

Q. "What's the difference between 'thoroughbred,' 'purebred' and 'pureblood'?"

A. Thoroughbred horses, purebred dogs and pureblood cows, that's the way the words are used, according to our Language man. Otherwise, they all mean the same: in each case, bred from parents of the same recognized breed.

KICK THE BUCKET

More than one curious customer has asked why we came to use "kick the bucket" as a synonym for dying. Numerous suicides once stood on buckets to get the necessary altitude to hang themselves. After adjusting the nooses and tightening the ropes over tree limbs, rafters or whatever, they kicked those buckets out of the way.

Dog on cruise needs papers

DEAR DR. MILLER: Spinnaker, our two year old dog is coming aboard with us on a charter cruise to the Bahamas. Nobody has heard that dogs need any papers for that cruise, right? — S.L.

DEAR S.L.: Maybe not, but someone should have. To be legal, Spinnaker should have an import permit issued from Nassau plus a recent rabies vaccination (and certificate) given more than ten days but less than ten months prior to his arrival there. And, finally, Spinnaker should show (or be able to with your help) a veterinarian-issued Health Certificate dated within 24 hours of embarkation.

DEAR DR. MILLER: If your cat catches a bird and you're able to take it out of its mouth quickly enough, is it kinder to put the bird to sleep or to set it free? — I.O.

DEAR I.O.: It's difficult to determine when a bird is rescued "quickly enough." The long canine teeth (fangs) of the cat often penetrate chest or abdomen, introducing infection or causing irreparable damage of organs. A bird with no visible external injuries which can fly, should be allowed to. Birds which are unconscious or bleeding heavily seldom survive. Of the large group of birds between these extremes, probably most will not make it, but some, particularly with expert care, can. Many areas have specialists or special groups concerned with bird care who will accept such birds and save them if possible. By far the greatest service you can do for the birds is to keep your cat from catching them in the first place. The most efficient means of doing this is to leave the birds outside, naturally, and your cat in . . .

DEAR DR. MILLER: Will fish that have been in an outdoor pool since May be strong enough to live through the winter, or will I have to bring them inside before the first frost? — S.K.

DEAR S.K.: It depends on many factors ranging from pool size and water depth to the kind of fish kept and where you live. Some members of the carp family, and others, kept in a large pool might make it in most any location through the winter. Survival in a shallow pool would likely occur only in mild winter climates, and tropical fish should be packed inside before the first frost regardless of the pool accomodations, unless, of course, they included heat.

War of 1912

The War of 1812, coming 30 years after the United States had achieved independence from Great Britain, had three major causes: 1. British warships blockading Napoleonic France seized American trading ships; 2. Britain, refusing to recognize naturalized American sailors, seized and impressed thousands into British service; 3. Britain armed Indians who raided the U.S. western borders.

Astrographs

By Bernice Bede Osol
For Wednesday, Sept. 21, 1977
Your Birthday, Sept. 21, 1977

Paths that you've trod before will lead you to the greatest gains this coming year. If you have to axe your way through the forest, it could be another story.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) There's a possibility today you'll repeat a bad financial move you made before in a similar situation. Check your memory bank. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Moderation, tact and logic are your traditional tools today. You could forget what spawned your successes and fail by using hard-nosed tactics.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It's extremely important today to turn the other cheek. Even if someone wrongs you, don't be vindictive.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're still in somewhat of a critical phase financially. Don't put out "seed money" on speculation without an assured return.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This is not the day for you to champion unpopular causes. Though your motives may be honorable, results could cloud your reputation where it counts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 19-Feb. 19) You will treat people by what you remember of them, rather than how you feel today. They may understand what you do, but not why.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't send friends to a merchant you know little about. Your pals could get ripped off and you'll be red-faced.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be careful in matters affecting your reputation today. Someone who has a real or imagined grievance may seek revenge.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) There's a possibility you won't use your most logical judgment at work today. Hammering square pegs into round holes won't work.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Beware of sharpies and "blue sky" promoters today. What you have could quickly become theirs.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) An old and abrasive domestic issue should not be resurrected today. It will only cause chaos on the home front.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Look down your nose at no one today. Most people are not deserving of your disdain, and you'll only create unnecessary problems.

Fantasy just plain ruined

In my fantasy, it's always the same.

I'm sitting on the beach . . . alone.

My long, tanned legs are stretched lazily in front of me. My hair is caught up in a chiffon scarf, topped by a large brimmed hat that accentuates my classic cheekbones.

Whispers of "Who is she?" sound like leaves rustling. My large, dark glasses reveal nothing. I wear a single piece of jewelry around my neck — a suggestive gold toothbrush.

A voice whispers, "Does anyone really know her?"

Another voice answers back, "Does anyone know the wind?"

I was drowsily engaged in my fantasy at the pool last week when a woman sat down and said, "You can sure tell a lot about people by what they read."

I returned my book to its plain brown wrapper.

"Books aren't the only thing that's revealing," she said. "I can tell you things about yourself that possibly you never knew. Take your voice . . . you speak softly. You know what that means? It means you're insecure. You're trying to hide something or you're afraid of something you don't want to hear. Why are you doing that?"

"Doing what?" I asked.

"Making a square knot with your feet. That tells me something else," she observed. "It tells me you're a perfectionist in an imperfect world. You're concerned with image and are anxious to please. A bit prudish even. And your bathing suit reveals a lot. For example, if you were wearing a string bikini, I'd know you were a girl who knows what she wants and how to get it. A one-piece suit tells me you're no nonsense and strong, and a cut-out divulges you're aware of the impression you make on others."

"And what does my suit tell you?" I asked.

"I'm not sure. I've never interpreted one with sleeves and white collar before. The color yellow, though, means you're a pseudo-intellectual who would like to be successful, but you never do anything, you just talk about it."

As I got up to get away she yelled, "I can also tell you've been here 4½ hours by the depth of the ridges on your legs!" She smiled and waved goodbye.

What a shame she didn't read lips!

Dr. Lamb

How many eggs safe to eat?

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have become quite concerned about the new things I have been hearing about eggs and how they contribute to cholesterol in the blood stream.

I am largely responsible for cooking for my family. I want to prevent any possible heart trouble for as long as possible. I would like to know how many eggs I can safely serve each day or week? I mean eggs included in other foods such as in custards, puddings, cookies, cakes and what have you.

I understand that heart attacks do give warnings, sometimes several hours before they strike. I hear that if you have had any chest pain or pain in the left shoulder or left side of the neck followed by excessive tiredness you should get to a doctor as fast as you can.

I'd appreciate full information on these topics. I do not think we are having any trouble in this area, but I want to be prepared as much as possible since we do not have a doctor in this city.

DEAR READER — The American Heart Assn. recommends that the total consumption of egg yolks should not exceed three yolks a week including all of those used in cooking of any sort.

The dietary program you need to follow is much more complicated than that though. If you don't restrict your calories from any source to the point of preventing or eliminating obesity, your dietary program may not be very helpful.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-3, Diet, Preventing Atherosclerosis, which will give you the general guidelines you need. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y., 10019. You will need to restrict your total fat consumption and particularly your saturated fat intake.

Almost all fat in foods is made up of saturated fat and unsaturated fat. There are two types of unsaturated fat, monounsaturated fat and polyunsaturated fat. Even beef fat contains all three. The important principle is to limit the total fat consumption and choose foods that have little saturated fat and more polyunsaturated fat in them.

From this point of view you should use corn oil or safflower oil for cooking but not coconut oil. Corn oil contains only about 10 per cent saturated fat. About 80 per cent of coconut oil and palm oil is saturated fat. About a third of the fat in fish is polyunsaturated but only about two per cent of the fat in beef is polyunsaturated.

Monounsaturated fats are not harmful as saturated fats may be other than adding to the total fat consumption which you should limit.

No, it is not true that heart attacks always give you a warning. Too often the first symptom is the sudden attack and about half of these victims die before they get to the hospital. This is why a preventive program is so important. When the first symptom is fatal you need to do something before the first symptom occurs.

Because of the volume of mail Dr. Lamb cannot answer your letters personally but he will answer representative letters of general interest in his column.

The boss thinks of everything, but we just can't keep up with the doing.

At today's prices health food is anything you can afford to put on the table.

Is it too early to tell you about the two spooks who tired of apartment life, and went house-haunting?

The Gerber convention provides that a four club bid asks for aces. It has never been successful in competition, but every expert uses the four-club bid under certain circumstances to take the place of Blackwood.

The first time is in response to any notrump opening. Today's North hand is a good example.

South opens two notrump. North can count 13 easy tricks if his partner holds all four aces. He is willing to gamble on six if South holds just three and will sign off at four notrump if South only holds two of those desirable cards. It is possible, but most improbable, for South to have a two notrump opener with only two aces.

South shows all four aces and North bids the cinch seven notrump.

Note that if South showed three aces North would bid six clubs. South might have a high-suit. If South showed two aces North would sign off at four notrump which would be safe because South would need all missing king-queens.

Ask the Jacobys

We keep getting questions about the Late Easley Blackwood.

For the benefit of those readers, we wish to report that Easley is not only alive, but he should be with us for a long time

"I have tried other brands of cigarettes and have the almost full packs in my cabinet to prove it. MERIT is the first different brand I have liked and the tar and nicotine level is hard to believe."

By calling the plays

Knox stifles Namath

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Joe Namath, having escaped the stench of New York mediocrity, has the opportunity to achieve a second stardom in Los Angeles ... if only Chuck Knox will let him.

Namath, once a six-figure man in a five-figure era, now the idol of the panty-hose, popcorn and perfume pitchmen, is being turned into another kind of pitchman by the coach of the Rams—an ineffective robot running an unimaginative offense.

There are questions about his mobility and his velocity. But there are no questions about his eyes. He is an acknowledged master at reading defenses, at sensing impending blitzes, shifts in coverages.

So why does Knox insist on sending Namath the signals from the sidelines? Weeb Ewbank and Bear Bryant, two coaches who know Namath's talents all too well, wouldn't do it that way.

"I don't believe in sending in signals," said Ewbank, Namath's coach during the Jets' super seasons. "I believe in a good game plan and then having a good quarterback who can call the signals, and that's what I had in Joe.

"Maybe if I had a quarterback I didn't think could do it I might change my attitude—but Joe's an excellent quarterback," Ewbank added.

And if Weeb was coaching Namath in Los Angeles, who would be calling the signals? "If I were there," he said without hesitation, "I know he'd be calling them."

Bryant, Namath's coach at Alabama, drawled: "Namath is more able to calls play than I would be. I've always felt like a quarterback, any quarterback, is right there on top of the situation and the team may have more confidence in him."

What Knox is doing is like putting the Mona Lisa in a motel or a Picasso in a parking lot. It's a waste of talent.

Last year the Rams' quarterbacks took the heat not because they didn't have ability but because they couldn't wing it under adversity.

Foresight, not hindsight, has always been one of Namath's trademarks. And Knox has put blinders on him.

Namath, ever the diplomat, isn't second-guessing his boss. But he dislikes the sideline restraints.

"You know, when you're successful, it's very difficult to change things," he said of the Rams, division champs the past four seasons. "I preferred calling my own plays over the years, but damn, I can't argue with success.

"We went through six games in the exhibition season and I have to say we didn't put a lot of points on the board. The quarterbacks were calling all the plays then. So, hey, we've got to do something to get more points. The coaches feel more confident with them calling the plays."

In the Rams' 17-6 loss Sunday in Atlanta, Namath started out throwing, showing he still had the arm. He put Los Angeles on top with a 27-yard touchdown pass to Harold Jackson, a perfect pass into the end zone that covered maybe 45 yards in the air.

After the TD, things changed.

Namath spent the rest of the afternoon throwing flare-outs, fullback screens and other short dump-off stuff.

Why?

"I'm not gonna answer questions that are going to be controversial about the play-calling," he said. "I work here. I do what I'm told to do."

Knox said even less. He said nothing.

If you look at Namath's career statistics, you find a sometimes electrifying, sometimes mediocre quarterback. But when you look at Namath himself, you know you're looking at a man who transcends the game he plays. Which is why he is so unlike Unitas, another super quarterback who wound up a bitter man playing in near-obscurity for a losing team.

"Joe, he's a very special person," said Al Ward, the general manager of the Jets. "Never been anybody like him, outside of maybe Muhammad Ali. Whatever makes charisma or presence—crowd appeal, sex appeal—Joe has it."

But if Knox doesn't give him a free hand, Joe may not have it for long.

SQUEEZE PLAY

Reserve quarterback Scott Bull of San Francisco fumbles as he is hit by Pittsburgh's Robin Cole (front) and Jack Lambert (rear). The Steelers ripped 49ers, 27-0, Monday night.

Locals picked for AIL play

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Two locals were among 24 players tabbed by the San Diego Padres to compete in the Arizona Instructional League winter baseball program.

Chino High grad Tim Derryberry and Gladstone High and Citrus College alumnus Eric Mustad were both picked for the Padres' team in the AIL.

Derryberry played at Reno in the California League this summer where he socked 25 home runs, drove in 87 runs, and hit .333. He was signed by the Padres out of Chino High in 1975.

Mustad was 5-0 at Walla Walla in the Northwest League this past year. He was inked by S.D. out of Cal State Fullerton.

The AIL opened play on Saturday and its season is slated to run through Oct. 28. Six other major league teams besides the Padres operate squads in the loop.

Thompson leads Pac-8 statistics

By The Associated Press

Washington State's Jack Thompson, although matched by Guy Benjamin in passing percentage, has a decided statistical edge over the Stanford quarterback in the over-all statistics.

The Pacific-8 statistics through two weeks of the football season show Thompson, "The Throwin' Samoan" who has engineered WSU victories over Nebraska and Michigan State, as the conference leader in passing and total offense.

Thompson, 39 for 60 passing with four touchdown tosses and 538 yards, has 518 yards total offense counting losses when he kept the ball.

Steelers eager for Raiders

Progress Bulletin

Pomona, California ■ Tuesday, September 20, 1977

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The television viewers who saw Franco Harris outgain the whole San Francisco 49er offense had to include some of the guys who will be here next Sunday — the Oakland Raiders.

"Oakland is heralded to be the best football team in the NFL," Harris said Monday night after he and a totally dominant Pittsburgh Steeler defense combined to crush San Francisco 27-0.

"So here we are playing the best team in the NFL," Harris added.

"And I dont think we are second to anybody, so something has to give." The Steelers did little giving at all Monday night, yielding 101 net offensive yards — 82 by the run and 19 by the pass.

Harris who scored a pair of Steeler touchdowns rushed for 100 yards himself and added nine more on a pass reception.

"I've always scored points in my career, always," lamented 49er quarterback Jim Plunkett who hit three of 13 passes for 30 yards, all of which were erased by Steeler sacks for minus 30 yards.

"We couldn't pass. We couldn't rush," said new 49er Coach Ken Meyer, whose team has scored just three points in its last three preseason games.

"But I dont think many people are going to move the ball up and down the field on Pitt."

Oakland did just that against the Steelers in the AFC title game last season and the victory helped the Raiders to the Super Bowl title that belonged to Pitt the previous two years.

"I'm looking forward to next Sunday. Everybody is," said the smiling Harris who missed the AFC title game with damaged ribs.

Harris gave Pitt all the punts they needed against San Francisco in the second period when he broke two arm tackles and ran 14 yards for a touchdown.

Roy Gerela added a 49-yard field goal to give the Steelers a 10-0 half time edge, and he added a 47-yard scoring kick that made it 13-0 in the third period.

In the last quarter, Harris ran seven yards for another touchdown and quarterback Terry Bradshaw hit John Stallworth with a 15-yard scoring pass.

"Their defense was tough and physical. They gave us a beating," Harris said after the best opening game of his career.

"But they just got let down by their offense," he added.

The 49ers did not cross midfield in the first half. They visited Steeler territory only three times in the second half, once via a Harris fumble.

"You blame yourself because the offense hasn't done the job," said Plunkett, intercepted twice by Steeler cornerback Jim Allen.

"The defense fought like hell but the offense didn't help them."

Despite his rugged night, Plunkett got a vote of confidence fron Steeler defensive tackle Joe Greene.

"I think Plunkett is a good quarterback," said Greene. But their offense didn't get anything done at all."

Greene was encouraged by the shutout, which followed Pittsburgh's 30-0 preseason loss in Dallas. "But San Francisco is no Cincinnati, Cleveland or Houston and for damn sure they're not Oakland."

While the 49er offense was getting nowhere, the Steelers rushed for 175 yards and added 133 by the pass.

Sixty-three of those passing yards came on four catches by Lynn Swann, who figures to be a central figure in the Pittsburgh-Oakland encounter.

"It's not going to be your average Sunday afternoon, 4 p.m. football game," Swann said.

Rams need ground game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Rams' runners aren't blowing over linemen while the team's defensive line is being blown down by the opposition. Certainly the performance has not been Super Bowl caliber.

And Chuck Knox had to agree after the disappointing season opener.

Reflecting on his team's 17-6 loss to Atlanta in the season opener, the Rams head coach said Monday:

"There's a good chance we'll have Doug France for Philadelphia (Sunday in the Coliseum) and that should help the running game. To run the ball in this league you need two things, good blocking from the offensive line and hard-running backs, and we've had trouble in both areas."

France, the Rams' starting left tackle, underwent knee surgery Aug. 7.

Concerning the Ram defense, Knox agreed the team doesn't seem to be showing the same enthusiasm as in the past.

"I think it's true we don't have the same amount of enthusiasm we've had before, but I don't know why," Knox said.

"Enthusiasm is an intangible, and it's hard to put your finger on an intangible."

About the team's loss in the opener, Knox said the problem was not enough big plays.

"It's a different game if we hadn't fumbled twice inside their 15-yard line," Knox said.

"Seriously, we did scrimmage Barstow JC last week and overall I think we are an improved team although it's still kind of hard to tell how we'll do.

"We meet U. San Diego, they are a good football team. They have played twice this year and lost a couple tough games to Cal Lutheran (21-17) and Redlands (3-0).

"We're optimistic at this point."

ZINDA, Claremont-Mudd: "Just like Ort and Ambord, I don't know what to expect from my team. I feel we are improved, but then I look around the conference and everybody else seems to be improved as well.

"We open at St. Mary's Saturday, it will be their homecoming and on TV up there, so it's a big deal for them.

"They have a real good quarterback in Joe Martin, but he threw five interceptions vs. Whittier and may not start against us. They play a very tough "5-2" defense.

"We are questionable on offense, especially at the quarterback spot. Don Chester will start there for us. We could have trouble scoring up there so we're hoping our defense can keep us in game."

JERRY SCONCE, Azusa Pacific: "We also open this week, vs. Occidental. We're kind of going into the game cold, while Oxy is a good football team which won its opener last week vs. USIU.

"Oxy does a lot of things right — mostly throwing the football. They have an outstanding passing game and our secondary and linebackers will have to be ready for anything.

"We have some key personnel back from last year, especially at quarterback, and the game will be at our place, so we're hoping for the best."

JIM JONES, Cal Poly: "We've played two weeks on the road and I think some of our players have treated it as sort of a vacation. That, I feel, has something to do with our performance and is something we will have to get over.

"We were very inconsistent at San Francisco State, although our freshmen I thought did a good job. Gordy Bohannon stepped in at quarterback and had an excellent game despite throwing four interceptions.

"I think we could easily be 2-0 at this point instead of 0-2. But right now I can live with that 0-2 record, even though I'm not pleased with it. We have played well for an inexperienced team.

"We have a bye this week, and play UC Davis in two weeks."

MIKE MERANDI, Chaffey: "We did not play an excellent game at L.A. Southwest but we did play well enough to win. Southwest coach Ron Mims has done a real good job with his program.

"We had a few problems on offense, but we played probably the best defense since I've been head coach.

"This week we play at MiraCosta. They are off to a slow start but have the ability to be very good. We will play a lot of people down there in order to get ready for our conference opener."

MAL EATON, MSAC: "We played a fine football game vs. Pasadena. it was just a shame we had to lose it on a busted play with only a minute left. We were down 17-3 at one point but our guys really hung in there and played as well as they are capable of playing in the second half.

"This week we will be at Glendale. they are a solid team. They have a good kicking game, a solid defense, and a very strong passing game. It figures to be another tough outing for us."

JOHN STRYCULA, Citrus: "We were in tough for the second week in a row and lost to Long Beach Saturday. They and Fullerton are two of the better teams in the state in my opinion.

"We aren't a very good football team right now. I don't feel we are of championship caliber at this point. We have a bye this week and maybe that's just as well.

"We just had too many breakdowns vs. Long Beach on defense. We will try to regroup in practices this week."

Dodgers planning party

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers' pennant-clinching party has been moved to the visitors' clubhouse at Candlestick Park.

"It's inevitable," said third baseman Ron Cey as the Dodgers headed into tonight's game with the San Francisco Giants needing just one more victory— or a loss by the Cincinnati Reds—to clinch the National League's Western Division title.

They will be facing the Giants' Ed Halicki, 14-11, who is always tough on them. But they'll go with 18-game winner Tommy John in the opener of the two-game series at Candlestick, a ballpark which has been very good to them this season.

The Dodgers are unbeaten in seven games here. On the last visit, Cey totaled 11 hits and 10 runs batted in over four games.

"It's a shame we couldn't win at home," Manager Tom Lasorda said after the Dodgers ended a homestand with a 9-8 loss to Atlanta Sunday.

There were 32,209 fans at Dodger Stadium hoping to help the team celebrate the clinching of division crown. The fourth-place Giants had cooperated by beating the defending world champion Reds, who moved on to San Diego where they begin a series tonight 11½ games behind the leading Dodgers.

The Reds, despite the acquisition of pitcher Tom Seaver during the season, were never able to seriously challenge the Dodgers, who got off to a 17-3 start in April under their new manager and had few bad spells over the summer.

The pitching staff, led by John and Don Sutton, has major league baseball's best earned run average, and the batting foursome of Cey, Steve Garvey, Reggie Smith and Dusty Baker is within range of a home run record. If Baker, who has 28 home runs, can hit two more, the Dodgers will become the first team in history to have four players finish a season with 30 or more home runs each.

John won the National League's Comeback Player of the Year award last season after recovering from arm surgery. Baker is a 1977 candidate, along with San Francisco's 39-year-old Willie McCovey.

Baker played with a sore knee last year, his first season with the Dodgers, and hit a disappointing .242 with four homers and 39 RBI. Early this month, he hit seven homers and drove in 18 runs in an 11-game period.

"It's just great when I get into one of these home run grooves. I would compare it to a car being in perfect tune," said the outfielder who hopes he stays in that groove through the playoffs and a World Series.

Five sophomores enter Derby Trial

Five sophomores are entered in Wednesday's $17,000-added Derby Trial Stakes at a mile and one-sixteenth at the Los Angeles County Fair.

There will be exacta wagering on the Derby Trial, the 10th race, as well as on the fourth, eighth and 11th races.

Favoritism in the 10th running of the Derby Trial Stakes will probably go to George M. Warwick's Granja Mimado, a son of Knight in Armor and Joelyn's Pet. Trainer Ted West, the leader last year at Pomona, claimed Granja Mimado out of a winning race Aug. 24 at Del Mar. The $20,000 purchase proceeded to finish third on the turf versus allowance foes. Francisco Mena will ride Granja Mimado from post position one.

Regal Cher, owned by Paulson-Zeux Farms, is a son of Viceregal and won his initial career outing earlier this month. Trained by Richard Chew, Regal Cher raced gamely in the six-furlong test to prevail by a neck. Jockey Wayne Harris will ride.

Sacramento Derby winnner Time to Stare, with William Delia named to ride, comes to Pomona fresh from his length victory in the mile and one-sixteenth derby. The J.J. Sherwood-trained gelding has captured four of his eight outings and earned $22,347 this season.

Ripple River, a full-brother to swift Cherry River trained by Mel Stute, has earned in excess of $21,000 this year. Raul Ramirez, leading rider at Pomona this season, is his rider.

Pablosito, a winner at Billings, Mont., will leave from post five under jockey William Stallings in the Trial.

SCIAC coaches loose before grid openers

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

It was a loose group of Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference coaches Monday at the weekly Progress Bulletin football luncheon at the Castaway Restaurant in Pomona.

The trio of SCIAC mentors — Roland Ortmayer (La Verne), John Zinda (Claremont-Mudd) and Walt Ambord (Pomona-Pitzer) — have reason to be jovial . . . their teams have yet to play a game.

However, that will change come Saturday as the three will send their squads into openers against tough opponents.

On the junior college level, surprising Chaffey College dominated the weekly player awards. Panther quarterback Brian Potter was tabbed as the JC Offensive Player of the Week and CC tackle Marty Edens won defensive honors.

Potter, a freshman from Damien High, completed five of eight passes in Chaffey's 20-7 win over L.A. Southwest, and also rushed for 54 yards.

Edens, a sophomore from Chino, led a fine Panther defensive showing with 11 unassisted and seven assisted tackles.

Quoting the coaches:

ORTMAYER, La Verne: "We've been trampling down the grass with 64 people in practices, but I really can't tell yet if we can play.

"I see pretty good personnel, especially on offense, but don't know quite what to expect since we haven't played a game or had a scrimmage.

"We open vs. Whittier on Saturday, and they already have played and won a game (they beat St. Mary's last Saturday). I don't think that fact will hurt us other than it might be a problem in the minds of our players.

"As far as a game plan, we'll just try to bamboozle them like we have the past two years."

AMBORD, Pomona-Pitzer: "We're 1-0 already, Caltech dropped football so we'll accept a forfeit from them.

NFL stars

OFFENSIVE PLAYER OF THE WEEK — Walter Payton, running back, Chicago Bears. Last year's runner-up among NFL ground-gainers with 1,390 yards (and first in the National Conference) grabbed the lead in this year's chase for the rushing title by amassing 160 yards and scoring a pair of touchdowns in Chicago's 30-20 triumph over the Detroit Lions.

DEFENSIVE PLAYER OF THE WEEK — Harry Carson, linebacker, New York Giants. First he deflected a 41-yard field goal attempt by Mark Moseley (who later hit a 51-yarder). And in the final minute of play, he recovered a Mike Thomas fumble, setting up Joe Danelo's field goal with three seconds to play that gave the Giants a 20-17 victory over the Washington Redskins.

Boston not yet satisfied

By Associated Press

The Boston Red Sox may have gotten themselves back in the American League East pennant race with a 6-3 victory over the first-place Yankees. But few of the participants were dwelling on Monday's game.

"We've got to win tomorrow night," Boston catcher Carlton Fisk said after his three-run homer in the third inning powered the Red Sox within 3½ games of New York and into a tie for second place with Baltimore. "Pretty soon you run out of tomorrows."

"If we win tomorrow night, it's going to be an interesting 11 days after that," added Boston manager Don Zimmer.

And Yankees manager Billy Martin chipped in by saying, "I'll be very satisfied if we win tomorrow night. A split is all we need here."

Reggie Cleveland hurled a seven-hitter and received support from Carl Yastrzemski, who smashed his 24th homer in the eighth inning after New York had moved within 4-3 on Dave Kingman's third home run as a Yankee.

"I got a few breaks and there were some good plays behind me," said Cleveland, 10-8, who pitched eight shutout innings against New York last Wednesday before losing on Reggie Jackson's two-run homer. "I also made some good pitches when I needed them.

"The fifth inning was the key," added Cleveland, who got out of a jam after Graig Nettles and Lou Piniella opened the inning with singles. "In every game, there's a time when you get out of trouble in one inning and you're okay. The fifth was the inning for me."

Thurman Munson also homered for New York. Ed Figueroa, 15-10, took the loss.

Yaz's homer was Boston's 200th of the season, making the Red Sox only the fifth team to hit 200 or more home runs in a season twice.

Baltimore lost a chance to gain ground on the Yankees as they lost to Toronto 3-1, Chicago shut out Oakland 8-0, Detroit beat Cleveland 6-4 and Texas topped California 6-1.

There was no action in the National League Monday.

Blue Jays 3, Orioles 1

Jerry Garvin tossed a nine-hitter, working out of jams in the eighth and ninth innings, to hurt the Orioles' pennant chances.

Garvin got Lee May to hit into a double play with men on first and third in the Orioles' eighth, then retired three straight batters with men on first and third again in the ninth.

"We get up a little more for games against these guys, the pennant contenders," said Garvin, pointing to Toronto's 5-7 record with Baltimore and a 6-6 mark against New York.

"We're down three in the loss column and the Yankees have 11 left to play," said Baltimore manager Earl Weaver. "We wound up losing a day again and we're running out of days."

White Sox 8, A's 0

Ken Kravec hurled his first shutout in the major leagues, a four-hitter, and struck out eight as Chicago topped Oakland. Lamar Johnson and Jorge Orta each knocked in two runs and Eric Soderholm slammed his 23rd home run for Chicago.

Tigers 6, Indians 4

A two-run single by Ben Oglivie in the eighth inning was decisive for Detroit. Rusty Staub hammered his 22nd home run of the year for the Tigers and Andre Thornton had No. 28 for Cleveland.

Houston QB lost for season

HOUSTON (AP) — University of Houston quarterback Danny Davis will undergo surgery on a separated shoulder tomorrow and will be lost for the rest of the season, UH officials said Monday.

Davis, who led the Cougars to a Cotton Bowl win last season, was injured in Saturday's 31-14 loss to Penn State.

Jeanne Evert advances

PENSACOLA, Fla. — Topseeded Jeanne Evert scored an easy first-round victory over Charlene Grafton of Gulf Breeze, Fla., 6-2, 6-1 in the $6,000 Women's Tennis Professional Championships.

In other opening round matches Leslie Charles of Great Britain, seeded No. 3, defeated Robin Kahn of Washington, D.C., 6-3, 3-6, 7-5 and Sweden's Ingrid Bentzer upset eighth-seeded Lindsey Beaven of Britain 7-5, 3-6, 6-1.

King, Mayer named MVPs

NEW YORK — Billie Jean King and Sandy Mayer of the champion New York Apples were named World Team Tennis' Most Valuable PLayers for 1977.

It is the second straight year the two have captured the MVP honors. Mayer beat out Ray Ruffels while Ms. King edged Virginia Wade and Chris Evert.

Lanier signs big contract

DETROIT (AP) — Center Bob Lanier of the Detroit Pistons declared himself content after signing what was described as a five-year, $2 million contract.

"I am extremely pleased with the contract," Lanier said Monday. "I have peace of mind now."

The 29-year-old Lanier, in his eighth season with the National Basketball Association club, said the contract includes an option for a sixth year at the same salary he is to get for his fifth year.

OSU's Marshall named

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Oregon State's Greg Marshall, who made 14 tackles and threw Southern California ball carriers for losses four times, was named the Pacific-8's Defensive Player of the Week Monday.

The defensive tackle's standout performance came in a losing cause. But the heavily favored Trojans needed a fourth-period 50-yard touchdown pass to nip OSU 17-10 Saturday.

Webb Everett dies

LOS ANGELES — Webb A. Everett, former racing secretary at Santa Anita, Bay Meadows, Tanforan, Golden Gate Fields and Del Mar thoroughbred race tracks, died at the age of 81 after a long illness.

Ernie Nevers scored 40 points in one National Football League game, playing for the Chicago Cardinals against the Chicago Bears in 1929.

Ryan leaves with tired arm

ANAHEIM (AP) — Hoping to add excitement to the game, the American League introduced the designated hitter rule to baseball for the 1973 season.

Five seasons later, the rule's effect has become clear: more hits, more runs, shorter careers for pitchers as they work more innings and more weary arms.

Fans wishing to view the pitching arms of the California Angels are advised to visit the Los Angeles office of Dr. Frank Jobe today, where Nolan Ryan is scheduled to have his million dollar arm examined.

Frank Tanana is probably out for the season from overwork. Gary Ross' arm has already gone through surgery.

"I can see a pattern developing," Ryan admitted Monday night after being forced to leave in the sixth inning of California's 6-1 loss to Texas.

Doyle Alexander went all the way for the Rangers to record his 16th win with the help of Toby Harrah's three-run homer off Ryan. It was Harrah's 26th homer of the season.

A tightness in his right forearm has forced Ryan to leave his last three starts prematurely.

"I might have a tired arm," Ryan admitted after failing for the second time to become the American League's first 20-game winner. "The reaction is muscular. It just gets to a point where I can't throw.

"It's ridiculous. It's bothering me to a point where I think I should see someone about it," Ryan said.

"I'm not going out there again if I'm going to hurt it. I'm not going to be hardheaded over one game."

The list of 20-game winners in the American League has dwindled steadily since the designated hitter rule was introduced in 1973. There were 12 that season. The number dropped to 9 in 1974, 5 in 1975 and there were only 3 last year.

There may not be any 20-game winners in the American League when the season comes to a close on October 2. Ryan has his 19 wins. Kansas City's Dennis Leonard has 18 and may be rested for the playoffs. Minnesota's Dave Gltz also has 18 wins.

Donahue anxious to face Big 10 teams

LOS ANGELES (AP) — While Terry Donahue was obviously happy about UCLA's victory over Kansas last Saturday, the Bruins' coach had other things on his mind at Monday's meeting with members of the media.

"Our football team made improvement despite only three days of practice, that pleased me the most," said Donahue. "This team has to improve every week if it's to be a factor in the conference race.

"Now we're anxious for the next two games," he added. "They will give us a chance to clean things up before the league season begins."

UCLA, which topped Kansas 17-7 only five days after losing its season-opener 17-13 at Houston Sept. 12, challenges a pair of Big Ten teams before beginning its Pacific 8 season at Stanford Oct. 8. The Bruins play at Minnesota this Saturday and host unbeaten Iowa Oct. 1.

"I'm glad we don't have any more Monday night games this year," said Donahue. "What we had to do was more difficult than I expected it to be.

"The reason you have to play on a Monday night is the money factor," continued Donahue. "There's not an athletic department in the country that would turn down the opportunity we had.

"It makes the next week very difficult. I don't know if it made a difference in our performance against Kansas. I'm not opposed to doing what we did because the chance to play in a nationally-televised game outweighs the problems involved."

Donahue had kind words concerning the perfomances of UCLA's defensive line, running backs and kickers in the Kansas game.

"Overall we had an excellent defensive effort," said Donahue. "The defensive line played much better than it did at Houston. All five running backs did some positive things. And I was very pleased with the performance of our kickers."

Two freshman, two sophomores and a junior saw action at the running back positions. The junior, James Owens, is an established starter. Donahue said the other four would continue to play until starter is determined.

Theotis Brown, UCLA's leading rusher last season, dislocated his left elbow against Houston and will be sidelined at least five more weeks.

Matt McFarland handled the punting and Peter Boermeester the place-kicking because of the absence of Frank Corral, who suffered a broken jaw against Houston.

Looking ahead, Donahue called Minnesota "a very physical team, big and strong. It's not the most talented team we'll play this year but we'll have to play well to win.

"They're capable of beating us if we don't play well," continued Donahue.

MOTORIST TORTURED ON HIGHWAY

Driving a sluggish car that coughs, misses or drags on the highway can be sheer torture. Erratic engine performance is often caused by crankcase contaminents and sticking mechanical parts. In such cases you can help restore lost performance thanks to a special formulation called WYNN'S® ENGINE TUNE-UP. This famous oil treatment works in 10 minutes as you drive to help quiet valves and lifters, while it dissolves away harmful deposits. So to help end highway torture, GET WYNN'S ENGINE TUNE-UP today.

Market activity

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks, which fell to a 21-month low Monday, were lower Tuesday as a result of investor concern about the economic slowdown and rising interest rates. Trading was moderate.

The Dow Jones industrial average, down two points at the outset, was off 0.86 point to 850.66 shortly before noon EDT. It fell 5.29 points Monday, finishing at the lowest level since it closed at 843.75 on Dec. 23, 1975.

Analysts, noting the Dow drew support last week at its previous 1977 low of 854.12, said Monday's slide could carry to closely watched average to 800 in the near future.

Selling has been sparked recently by government reports of a 0.5 per cent dip in August industrial production, the first decline since January, and a 2.6 per cent slide in housing starts.

In addition, investors were disturbed by a quarter point increase to 7¼ per cent in the prime lending rate banks charge. This makes money tougher to obtain and could slow capital investment plans.

Declines led advances, 659 to 401, among the 1,585 issues crossing the tape. The 525 unchanged issues reflected some investor uncertainty.

New York Stock Exchange volume at the two-hour mark amounted to about 8,600,000 shares, compared with 7,140,000 traded during the same period Monday.

Sony Corp. was the most active NYSE issue, up ¼ to 8½ following a block trade of 107,000 shares at 8½. The stock dropped ⅝ Monday after the company reported a 28 per cent dip in quarterly earnings.

ScheringPlough was the second most active issue, off ⅜ to 29⅞, International Telephone & Telegraph was third, up ⅛ to 30⅜.

Prices were lower in moderate trading of American Stock Exchange issues. Imperial Chemical Industries was the most active issue, up ⅛ to 7⅜. Houston Oil & Minerals was second, up ½ to 38⅛. Resorts International A stock was third, off ⅞ to 16⅝.

4 killed in chase

MONTREAL (AP) — A stolen car fleeing police crashed into another car Monday night and killed the four occupants of the second car, a police spokesman said. Two policemen were hurt in the chase when their car hit a tree.

A spokesman said two men and two women were killed, but he withheld their names until relatives were notified.

The driver of the stolen car, which police said carried stolen Washington, D.C. license plates, was unhurt in the collision and was arrested. The police spokesman said more stolen license plates, arms and ammunition were found in the car.

The chase began when two provincial policemen in a patrol car tried to stop the stolen car for speeding on an expressway. The driver kept going, and the police pursued him. Montreal regional police were summoned after the car entered their territory and the provincial police car hit a tree.

The conditions of the two provincial officers were not immediately reported.

Brown says business changing

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. says some people who criticize the business climate in California are behind the times in their thinking.

"A lot of our attitudes are carry-overs from former work areas, when we thought of people as fabricating or manufacturing durable, hard, identifiable objects. Today that does not describe what most people do," Brown says.

"The business climate and the economy are changing. In California, most people are engaged in the service sector, not manufacturing."

Even the space shuttle, a major California manufacturing project, is mostly computer programming and the production of ideas, not hardware, the Democratic governor said.

"The measure of progress is the movement from shoveling dirt to shuffling paper," Brown told a United Press International conference of Southern California newspaper editors recently.

"That has to change the way we think of the economy, and one of the reasons we are doing so well in California is that our dependency on basic manufacturing is much less.

"That's a hard concept to get across, that the economy is increasingly driven by services, the processing and dissemination of information — the movie industry, the record industry, the communications industry, the consulting industry, the legal industry, the medical-hospital industry."

Asked by one editor: "Will you confide in us on whether you're going to take on Jimmy Carter next time?" Brown gave a one-word reply: "no."

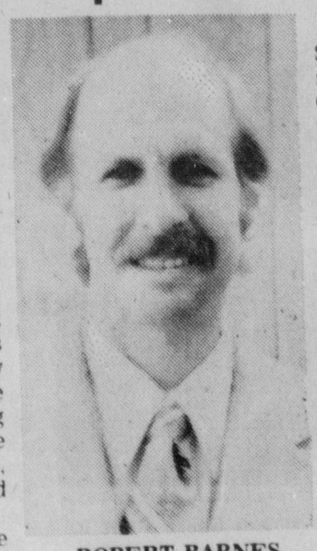

He explained later that meant he would not discuss the issue.

Barnes named to Pascoe post

Robert S. Barnes has been named vice president-operations at Pascoe Steel Corp., Pomona, a manufacturer of metal building systems. The appointment was announced by William H. Clarke, Pascoe president.

"This new position," said Clarke, "will strengthen Pascoe's corporate management capabilities, with Barnes having the responsibility for the operation of the company's manufacturing facilities." The plants are located in Pomona, Wathena, Kan., and Columbus, Ga.

Barnes will also be responsible for the total operation of Hy-Mark Industries, Henderson, Neb., a Pascoe subsidiary that produces grain bins and related farm equipment.

ROBERT BARNES

Barnes joined Pascoe Steel in 1963 as a field erection supervisor for a subsidiary company. He advanced in management positions from product manager for modular schools, to production manager and, in 1973 to operations manager of the Pascoe Pomona plant. He was promoted to director of manufacturing in 1975, serving in this capacity until his appointment as vice president-operations.

Barnes, who attended Compton College, resides in La Habra with his wife and two daughters.

Headquartered in Pomona, Pascoe Steel Corp. is a division of Amcord, Inc., Newport Beach.

Best plans showroom in Montclair

Montclair, West Covina, Santa Ana and Westminster are Southern California locations for new showrooms to be opened Sept. 29, by Best Products Co., Inc., the nation's largest catalog merchandiser.

These four communities will provide the first Southern California locations for Best Products, which currently operates 45 showrooms in eight states.

"Although highly competitive, we feel Southern California is an attractive market," said Andrew M. Lewis, president.

"We hope eventually to open 15 showrooms in Southern California."

Average cost of a showroom, Lewis said, is $2.1 million. Each contains 68,000 square feet of floor space. Rudolph and Sletter of Mountain View is the builder. Simpson-Stratta & Associates, San Francisco, is the designer.

Montclair Plaza sets crafts fair

Craftspeople from the West Coast will sell their hand-crafted goods on Montclair Plaza mall Sept. 21 to 25.

Produced under the auspices of American Fairs, Inc., the five-day show and sale features continuous creative demonstrations by the artisans at their workbenches.

As many as 60 displays will offer shoppers choices as diverse as reproductions of grandmother's wooden bread box and contemporary oil paintings. There will be picture plaques covered with finely beaded glass, hanging wall pieces made with driftwood and dried flora, large wooden letters and numerals and weavings with brilliant feathers interwoven into the fabric.

A selection of pottery with myriad uses and finishes will be for sale by the artisans who "threw" the work. Shoppers will find tea sets, plates, plant pots, pitchers and goblets. On another vein, delicate and subtle shadings will decorate the hand-painted porcelain dishware.

A "quick draw" charcoal portrait artist will execute a finished likeness in only a few minutes. The show will feature a wide range of sculptured candles to whimsical ceramics to bold metal works. Much of the work will be in process or completed during the Montclair Plaza show.

Bead novelties, hand-painted plaques, burl tables and wall clocks, leather belts and accessories, decoupage on grape trays and macramed plant hangers and decorator accents will also be on display.

Stuffed animals for youngsters and decorator hens to cover tea pots and toasters will be sold by their makers. Caricatures of people at work, bouncing on a metal spring, can be made to order or selected from the large stock the metal artisan carries with him. Another hand-crafted order that can be custom-made during the show is the routed redwood signs, Silly or serious wordage and warnings are cut into the wood and highlighted with colored stain.

The arts and crafts show is free and open to the public during regular shopping hours — 10 a.m. till 9 p.m. weekdays, 10 a.m. till 6 p.m. Saturday and noon till 5 p.m. Sunday.

Continuation of parking program OK'd

Downtown Pomona's parking enforcement program is working so well that the City Council has approved the continuation of the program.

Since Jackie Walterscheid, the city's first non-sworn parking enforcement officer, has now become the first sworn woman patrol officer in city history, Police Chief Richard A. Slaght recommended that the program continue, and that a replacement be chosen from the present availability list.

Slaght reported that since the enforcement program was re-established in Pomona the first of May, 2,418 citations have been issued in four months, with the tickets generating $4,999.

Slaght said he anticipates that revenues will increase as the parking enforcement officer increases productivity through gained experience.

He said that $14,571 has been budgeted for the program for 1977-78, and includes salary, the maintenance of two 3-wheelers, supervision and allocation for administration.

Slaght projected that the program eventually will generate $5,000 above the cost of the program.

He said that the vast majority of complaints when the program first was re-established came from "people who had become accustomed to violate parking laws with impunity."

Councilmen disagreed with Slaght's statement that it is "encouraging that not one complaint has been received during the past two months."

They said that they have received numerous phone calls.

City Administrator Jerrold Gonce said that parking enforcement is an age-old problem, and that the city is meeting basic needs with a single parking enforcement officer.

He said there are many parking lots filled but without any turnover.

"The program is paying for itself," he said. "It provides for surveillance and an officer is on duty to report accidents, traffic hazards, and provide information to the public."

Boys Republic rummage sales big successes

How much is old rummage really worth?

It's worth plenty to the Women's Auxiliary of Boys Republic. And it's worth plenty to the Boys Republic, itself, the non-profit community for the teen-age boys in Chino.

The auxiliary combines more than 100,000 items twice a year into the world's largest rummage sale, held in the Pasadena Conference Center. And over the past 63 years the auxiliary have raised more than $1 million for capital improvements and contributions to Boys Republic and its off-campus residences in Los Angeles, Santa Ana and Pomona.

Mrs. Ren Meader, president of the auxiliary, gave this breakdown of the money raised through the two sales in fall, 1976 and spring, 1977.

Largest outlay was $7,000 for a new 14-passenger van — used to transport boys to work assignments on the Boys Republic farm. It will also take them out into the countryside to gather materials for the famed Della Robbia wreaths which the Boys Republic makes and sells during each Christmas season.

Another $3,300 financed the installation of new lighting in the gymnasium — a building which the auxiliary financed several years ago. A sum of $4,500 was earmarked for athletic facilities to be specified by the Boys Republic staff; $2,000 went for a college scholarship while $1,300 was given to the Pomona residence.

The balance was donated to establish funds including the dental clinic, summer camp, chapel maintenance, parties for the boys and gifts for Christmas and graduation.

Members of the auxiliary currently are gathering rummage for the next sale — to be held Oct. 22 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. They welcome contributions and will arrange to have them picked up. The sale has 24 departments including art, china and glass, draperies and linens, furniture, hardware, housewares, sporting goods and clothing of all types.

Cub Scout recruiting sessions set

Some 1,000 boys between 8 and 10 years old are expected to join the Cub Scout program when the Old Baldy Council hosts "School Night for Cubbing" Sept. 28 at almost 90 local elementary schools.

Beginning at 7:30 p.m., Cub Scout recruiting sessions will be held at every elementary school in the council. This includes all valley communities.

Parents will be notified through the schools, and both the boys and parents should attend the meeting.

In addition to recruiting boys for Cub Scouts, "School Night" will also be enlisting the aid of parents and other adults to become involved in the scouting program.

The Cub Scout program is aimed at boys in the third, fourth and fifth grades. A neighborhood and family-oriented program, Cub Scouts teaches craft skills, responsibility and leadership, and provides boys with the opportunity to develop initiative as they earn their way through the ranks of Bob Cat, Wolf, Bear and Webelos. Also featured is an active summer program with an extensive five-day camp session in August.

Registration into the Cub Scout program requires a $2 annual fee per boy and a $3.50 fee per adult (den leader). Cub Scout uniforms are not required for membership and are not mandatory although they are encouraged.

Rail travel sets record

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Passenger train travel between San Pedro and Los Angeles reached a record high during the month of August, Amtrack officials announced Thursday.

Travel between the two cities showed an increase of 57 per cent over the same month last year. Some 78,448 passengers made the trip compared to 49,896 in August, 1976.

Shortest route to school suggested

Since schools are open again, the California Highway Patrol suggests parents select the shortest and safest routes for their children to walk or ride their bicycles to school.

"Help your child plan the shortest route between home and school consistent with safety. He or she should cross as few streets as possible and use marked crosswalks and traffic signals if available," said Capt. Jim Perkins, valley commander.

He urged parents to go over the route selected with the child once or twice to make sure the child knows what to do.

"Teach the child to look both ways at crossings. Those on bicycles are required to obey the same traffic laws as the drivers. This means they must ride on the right side of the road in a single file," he added.

Perkins said the route selected may depend if the student walks or rides a bicycle, especially in rural areas. When no sidewalks are available, pedestrians must walk on the left side of the roadway facing traffic.

"Parents who take an interest in their child's problems and help him select a safe route and establish and explain a few safety rules can reduce the traffic hazards significantly," said Perkins.

Phone surcharge explained

A surcharge on telephone bills, designated to fund the statewide "911" emergency calling number, has caused some confusion.

Mandated by state law and enforced by the State Attorney General's office, the 0.5 of 1 percent surcharge went into effect last month. The tax appears on phone bills of all General Telephone and Pacific Telephone customers, plus customers of the 23 other independent (non-Bell) telephone companies in the state.

The "911" surcharge is on most charges for telephone service, but does not apply to calls placed to points outside of California or to certain other specifically exempted services.

It is effective through No. 1, 1978, with the percentage subject to change thereafter by the State Board of Equalization. According to the 1976 law outlining the surcharge funding procedure, the "911" surcharge percentage may not exceed 0.75 of 1 percent.

The tax is being collected statewide, even though many cities and counties do not, as yet, have "911." It was authorized by the Legislature to assist communities in funding and implementing the "911" program, which will enable telephone users to reach fire, police, ambulance and other public emergency services by dialing only the three digits.

Tickets still available for Lung Assn. festival

Tickets are available for Saturday's afternoon festival at the adult center adjacent to the San Gabriel Civic Auditorium which will benefit the Lung Association of Los Angeles County and its programs of health education in the minority communities.

The program, lasting from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., will include a beauty pageant to select two princesses to represent the Metropolitan Center/East Los Angeles Region in the Christmas Seal Queen Contest. The preliminary competition will be held at 11 a.m., with the finals at 5:30 p.m.

Tickets may be ordered from the Lung Association by calling (213) 483-3220. Funds raised from the tax deductible ticket contributions will be used for special health education programs in the minority communities because of the increase in tuberculosis in those areas.

In addition to the entertainment planned by the Mariachi Claistatian and Carmen D'Oro, there will be a benefit auction of merchandise donated by local merchants.

Councilmen's Monterrey trip okayed

The Pomona City Council has approved a trip to Monterrey, Mexico, Pomona's sister city, for two councilmen.

Councilman G. Stanton Selby, new liaison chairman of the sister city committee, and Councilman Adrian Wright will fly to Monterrey this month to re-establish "our friendship" with city and chamber of commerce officials.

Selby said that Monterrey has a new mayor and some new chamber officials.

Saying that he is concerned about a stronger person-to-person relationship between the two cities, Selby said that he would try to get a commitment from art officials in Monterrey to have a mural painted in the local City Council chambers.

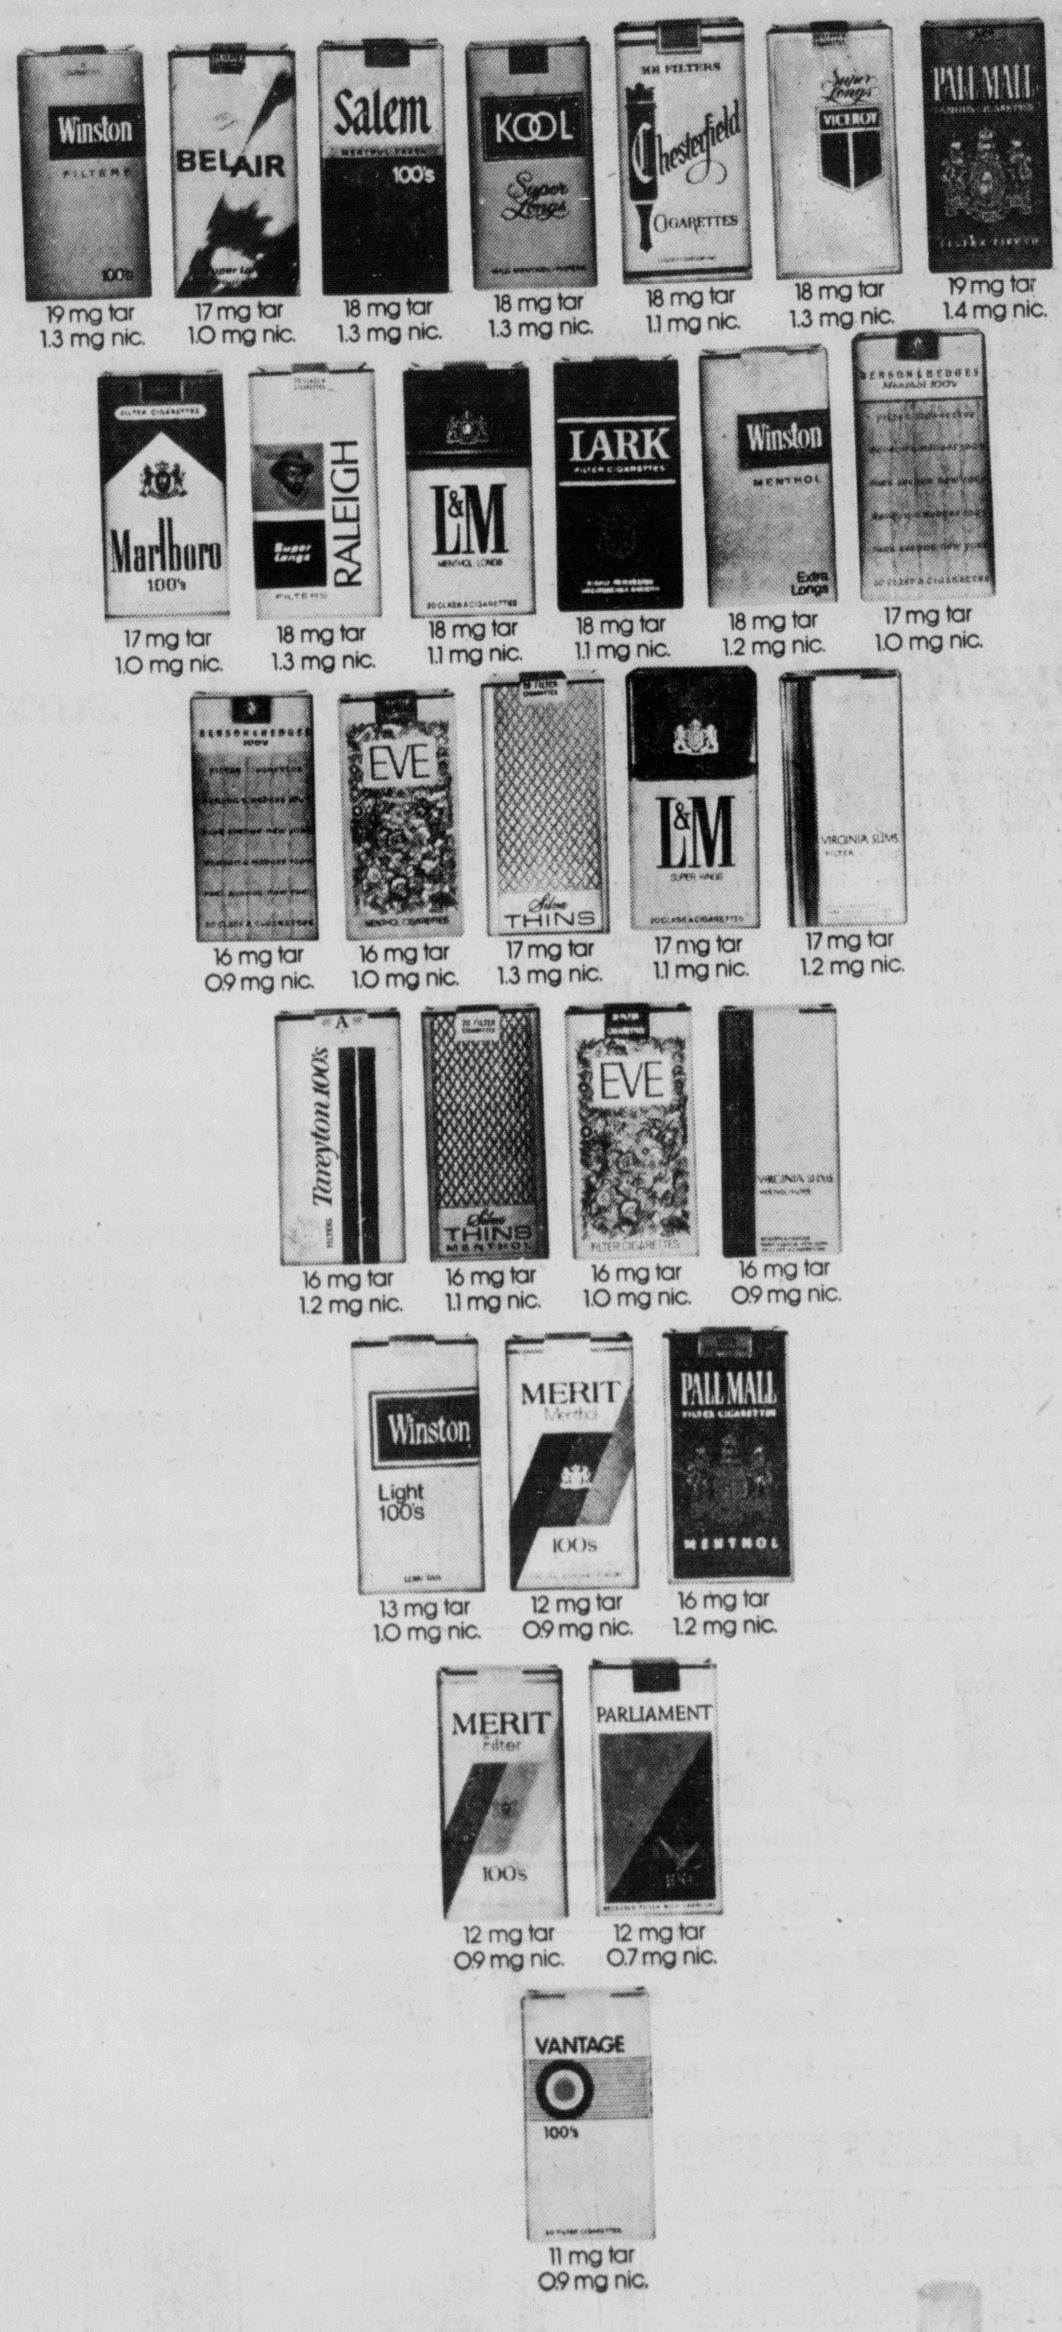

Job hunting class offered

The Pomona Unified School District, in cooperation with the Re-Employment Action Committee (REAC), is offering a new course in job hunting.

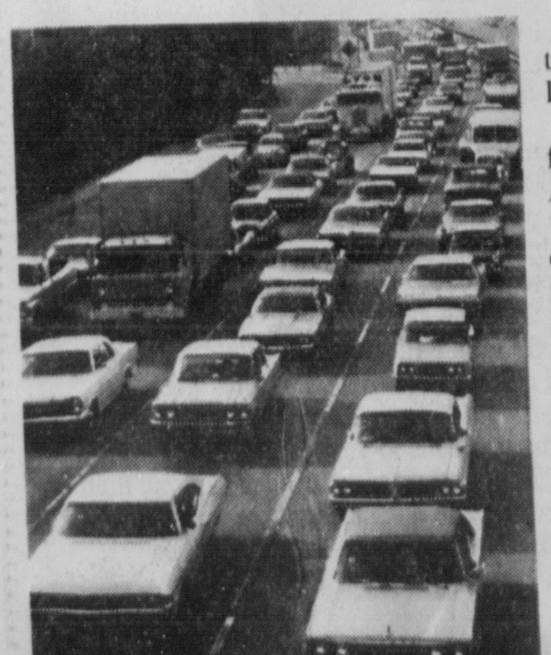

Called "Job Instruction," it will be taught by Frank Donadee, president of the American Paraprofessional Association and training counselor for REAC.

Some of the topics to be covered are how to set and achieve career goals; how to obtain good job leads; how to know what careers will have openings in the future; how to answer trick questions on applications and during interviews; how to develop a job-getting resume; and, how to negotiate for the highest possible salary.

The course will be held on Mondays from 7 to 10 p.m., at Garey High School, 321 W. Lexington Ave., in room 204. For more information those interested may contact Donadee at 622-6777.

MRS. HANNA WINDHORST

100th birthday marked by Pomonan

The 100th birthday of Mrs. Hanna Windhorst was the occasion for a family reunion and reception in her honor recently in the home of her daughter, Esther Windhorst, in Pomona.

Born in Frankfort, Ill., in 1877, she was the second of eight children. Today, she and her youngest brother, Fred Walter of Fresno, 92, are the only living family members of that generation.

Mr. Walter's daughters and sons-in-law arranged the family reunion and Mr. Walter presented his sister and niece white orchid corsages.

Mrs. Windhorst, in addressing her relatives and guests said, "It is not how long we live that is more important but how well we live. It is important to love and care and share and not to complain but trust in God."

Many friends from North Towne Avenue Church of Christ and from the neighborhood joined in the celebration. Serving guests at the reception were Muriel Wood and Teri Weitman.

Among Mr. Walter's relatives who joined Mrs. Windhorst in the celebration were: Mr. and Mrs. John Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wood and Jim Wood and guest, Corcoran; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Taylor, Danny Taylor, Tom Taylor, Kathy Allen, Sacramento; Mrs. Teri Weitman, Modesto; Mrs. Betty Lovelace, son-in-law and daughter and grandchildren, Santa Monica.

Among the many relatives who contacted Mrs. Windhorst on her birthday were a nephew and niece, the Frank Hartwicks of New Jersey.

Patio dinner planned

A patio dinner has been planned by members of Pilot Club of Pomona Valley. It will be held Thursday at 6 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Richard DeLacy, 85 E. 24th St., Upland.

Theme of the meeting is Share Pilot and information to new members and their guests will be extended.

In charge of arrangement are members of Outreach Division with Miss Lula Hohensee as chairman. Mrs. DeLacy will assist.

Alpha Iota begins season Wednesday

Pi Lambda Theta, Alpha Iota Chapter, begins its organization year at a catered supper at 6:30 p.m., Monday.

Arrangements for the event, which is to be held at Claremont Friends' Meeting House, 727 W. Harrison Ave., are being carried out by Elaine Zerveck, Dorothy Rhoades and Anita Baier. Members should call Louise Perkins by Thursday for reservations.

Reporting on the biennial council conference held at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee will be Rosalyn Heuck. Esther Boulton Black of Claremont was the recipient of the Ella Victoria Dobbs award for her book "Rancho Cucamonga and Dona Merced."

To be initiated at the meeting will be Nancy J. Edwards, Elva P. Reid and Anthony Sancho. Alpha Iota chapter has been associated with Claremont Graduate School as a graduate honorary since 1932.

Go to student

Let the student do the job; you pocket the savings. The Oct. 18 Family Circle recommends the services of students at training schools for haircuts or even small machine repairs. The work may take longer, but it's done under supervision and the price is usually a bargain. Check the Yellow Pages under Schools.

Tennis is a sport played with rackets and a ball on a large court.

The ball is an air-filled rubber ball covered with a cloth worn from dacron, nylon and wool.

To make a tennis ball, the ballmaker molds two half-spheres of rubber in a mold. The two halves are them cemented together and compressed air is shot into the ball through a hollow needle to make the ball bounce well. Finally, the cloth covering is cemented on.

Because they gradually lose their air pressure, tennis balls also lose some of their bounce.

New balls are sealed in pressure-packed containers to help keep them factory-fresh until used.

A tennis racket is usually made of wood. One end is formed into an oval frame with a net of nylon or gut strings stretched tightly across it. (Gut strings are made from the intestines of animals.)

The strings give the ball a better bounce.
